

New York Solon Urges Campaign Spot For Dewey

By JACK BELL
NEW YORK (AP)—A New York congressman moved today to push Gov. Thomas E. Dewey into an active part in the Republican presidential campaign after Sen. Robert A. Taft's spectacular enlistment in the fold.
Rep. Leonard W. Hall was leading a drive to expand Dewey's influence beyond the win-New York role which previously had been assigned to the 1944 and 1948 GOP presidential nominees.
"If the governor will consent to a more active part in the campaign, I am sure that his help will be welcomed," Hall told a reporter.

Forgotten Man
However, representatives of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who were influential in arranging the conference from which Taft emerged to announce he would give all-out aid to the Republican nominee, were noticeably cool to Hall's suggestion.

Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas and Ralph Cake, Oregon National committeeman, said they hadn't heard any report that Dewey—as well as Taft—might undertake a national broadcast for the ticket.
Since the July Chicago convention, where he helped Eisenhower win the nomination from Taft, Dewey has been cast in the role of the Republican party's forgotten man.

May Stay In East
He has remained in the background, apparently because of charges by the Taft forces that he engineered Eisenhower's nomination and was dominating his campaign. Taft leaders such as Thomas E. Coleman of Wisconsin said they counted in the pre-convention campaign on what they called an anti-Dewey sentiment among Republicans of the Midwest.
If Dewey were asked to take a more important role in the campaign than he thus far has assumed publicly, it was the consensus at Eisenhower headquarters here that he would be asked to appeal primarily to the voters in the Eastern Seaboard states.

Leftism Losing Votes For Adlai

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson will lose a lot of presidential votes in the south if "he continues his march to the left," Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said here yesterday.

The senator, who ran a strong third in the balloting for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he intends to vote for Stevenson, but thinks the Illinois governor risks alienating a lot of good Democrats by the trend of his recent public utterances.

Russell declined to elaborate except that "a lot of good, conservative Democrats thought Stevenson was a middle-of-the-road candidate. Now it appears that he is being influenced strongly by the ADA and the PAC (Americans for Democratic Action) and the CIO's Political Action Committee."

The senator flew here from Atlanta and is scheduled to sail today on a vacation trip to Venezuela.

He said he plans no part in the presidential campaign until his return about Oct. 1.

Ching Hopes To Leave Conciliation Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cyrus Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service since 1947, says he hopes to leave that post before the end of the year.

Ching made the announcement yesterday at the White House following a conference with President Truman on current labor problems.

He gave no reason for his planned resignation.

Minister Plays Part Of Woman In $23,000 Auburn, Calif., Swindle

AUBURN, Calif. (AP)—A fantastic $23,000 swindle in which a Presbyterian minister played the part of a woman was told by authorities here today.

Dis. Atty. Al B. Broyer said the Rev. William C. McCalmont, 35, admitted masterminding the bilking of Joseph and Amelia Lemos, operators of a fruit stand at Loomis, near here.

Broyer said the pastor of the Roseville, Calif., Presbyterian Church declared he had to have money to pay an unnamed woman who had been blackmailing him for three years. The district attorney said the story would be investigated.

Money Traced
Held with the moderator of the Sacramento Presbytery was Harry Daniels, 42, Roseville yardmaster for the Southern Pacific Railroad and a captain in the Placer County sheriff's aerial posse. Both men were charged with grand theft. Their bail was set at $5,000.

Officers were able to trace the money—life savings—because it was "sugar coated." Mrs. Lemos once dried water-soaked bills on a cookie sheet. Banks watched for bills with sugar and flour particles on them.

Pastor Wears Wig
Broyer said the swindle took place Aug. 24 like this:
After McCalmont delivered his Sunday sermon, he and Daniels went to the Lemos' home. The minister, using his experience in amateur theatricals, wore a wig and women's clothes.

The two told Mrs. Lemos they were federal agents and had learned she and her husband kept a large amount of money in their home. They told her they would keep the hoard so investigators coming the next day would not find it.

Otherwise, they told her, her husband would get 10 years in prison.

She gave them the money on assurance it would be returned the following night.

Election Fraud Hits 32 Persons

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A special grand jury, winding up a two week investigation, has indicted 32 persons on charges dealing with election irregularities, including the Republican mayor of nearby Dunbar.

The mayor, D. L. Salisbury, is a prominent Charleston attorney. The grand jury gave credit for the exposure to the Charleston Gazette. It said the newspaper was "responsible for getting the investigation under way."

Its report late yesterday said "evidence of fraud was noted in precincts in almost all sections of the county. False returns were shown for practically all offices from constable to governor."

"This jury is convinced that much of the fraudulent activity was carried out through the instructions of party leaders, candidates and outside workers."

The indictments did not show specific charges except to specify if the cases were felonies or misdemeanors Salisbury's case charged him with a felony.

Dr. Carl R. Jackson, assistant superintendent of DeWitt State Hospital, said McCalmont told him the blackmail story in a two-hour interview yesterday. Three years ago, the minister said, a woman visited him in his study and when she left disarranged her clothes.

Another woman, McCalmont went on, saw her come out and the second woman has been extorting money from him since.

They hurled 350 tons of explosives on installations under-going repair from the massive Allied fighter bomber raid in June on Suifu. Suifu's generators once supplied power to all North Korea and to many Chinese Communist industries in Manchuria.

Carswell Storm Loss 48 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force said yesterday 48 million dollars in damage was caused by a tornado that struck Carswell Field near Fort Worth Sept. 1, destroying one B36 bomber and damaging 106 others.

Gen. Hoys S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, in making the report said 37 of the 3 1/2 million dollar bombers damaged in the storm already have been repaired and returned to service. He said about 37 more will be repaired by Oct. 1.

The damage estimate was based on a report made by an inspection team appointed by Gen. Vandenberg to check into whether carelessness might have contributed to the damage.

A Senate watchdog committee announced last week that it, also, has started an inquiry to determine whether the damage resulted from inadequate storm warnings or other avoidable factors.

Reds And GOP Blasted In Talk By Stevenson

By RELMAN MORIN
ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson finished his first campaign drive through the West today with a sharp warning to American Communists, and another withering blast at his Republican foes.

The Democratic presidential candidate pledged that if he is elected:

Federal agencies will deal sternly and mercilessly with all who would betray their country."

Jokes Get Laughs
In the same speech, delivered last night in Albuquerque, Stevenson ripped into the Republicans on several different counts.

Ever since he began this Western sweep, he has been insisting that the GOP is badly split between the followers of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, the GOP nominee. The New York conference between Taft and Eisenhower yesterday gave Stevenson another opportunity to taunt his opposition.

"It looks as though Sen. Taft lost the nomination but won the nominee," he said.

He spoke with a straight face, and in tones as dry as the Western deserts. The crowd of 5,200 people, in a 5,000-seat high school auditorium, howled with laughter.

Stevenson added, "The elephants put their two heads together for a

Cornfield Crash Of Plane Kills 3 Men Near Jackson

JACKSON (AP)—Three men were killed today in the crash of a privately owned single engine plane near a farmhouse five miles northwest of here.

State Police identified the dead as:

Calvin Topps, 28, of Hudson, Mich.; Blendale Bowers, of Waldron, Mich., and Robert B. Morgan, 39, of Fayette, O., the pilot.

State Police said the crash of the four-place Stinson craft occurred in a low ground fog.

The plane came down over a cornfield and caught fire upon hitting the ground between a farmhouse and a barn.

Spouse Shooting Wife Acquitted; Kisses 12 Jurors

WICKLIFFE, Ky. (AP)—"I want to kiss all of them," said Mrs. Cleatie Coffee when a Ballard County jury acquitted her on a charge of paying a man to kill her husband.

And she did. Sobbing in low moans, she sprang from her seat at the defense table, rushed to each juror and gave each a kiss. And then she kissed her attorneys.

Her husband, Dr. W. M. Coffee, a prominent veterinarian and University of Kentucky trustee, was in the courtroom when the verdict was returned. Emotionless behind his dark glasses, he said nothing.

On her way out of court, Mrs. Coffee passed him and cried out, "You can't buy everything with money."

The trial which opened last Monday played to a full house each day. When the verdict was read, women in the audience began to cry for joy. Several rushed forward to congratulate the 41-year-old brunette defendant and share her kisses.

Mrs. Coffee was tried on a charge of being an accessory before the fact in the shooting and wounding of her husband March 10, 1951, by Jim Hall, a Cairo, Ill., bartender.

She is still charged with maliciously shooting at her estranged husband in the bathroom of their home in November, 1950.

Sabre Jets Bag 14 Russian Migs

HEADQUARTERS, U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE, Korea (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets destroyed at least 14 Communist MIGs last week without the loss of a single Sabre, the Air Force announced today.

A spokesman said the MIGs did manage to break through the protective screen of Sabres and shot down three slower F84 Thunderjets. One F80 Shooting Star was lost to Red ground fire to bring the week's plane losses to four.

The weekly scorecard showed 14 MIGs destroyed, one probably destroyed and 23 damaged.

Thus far in September Sabre jets have destroyed 29 MIGs in maintaining the hottest pace of the Korean War.

European Allies Have 2 Million Under Arms

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department reported today this country's European Allies now have more than two million men under arms compared with Russia's four million.

The figures were cited in a 50-page departmental report designed to answer inquiries from Congress and private citizens about progress made in building Europe's defenses under the 3-year-old North Atlantic Treaty.

Other Forces Fit In
Although indicating a relationship in the balance of East-West military power, the figures do not include other forces which fit into the overall picture.

Not mentioned is the total American strength of 3 1/2 million men under arms, the armed manpower of friendly nations like Australia, Yugoslavia and Spain, or the armies of Russia's satellites and Red China.

The report also referred to Russian possession of the atomic bomb as a major element in Soviet power—a reference reflecting conviction among officials here that Russia has such a bomb, although not in quantities equal to America's.

A-Bombs Stockpiled?

Interest in Russia's actual or assumed possession of nuclear weapons was freshly aroused recently when Carlton S. Proctor, New York engineer who once worked in Russia, said he did not believe the Soviets have succeeded in mastering the complex task of producing atomic weapons.

The White House has announced three atomic explosions in Russia. Other sources have estimated that Russia has a stockpile of 100 or more A-bombs.

But Proctor, president of the American Society of Civil Engineers with wide experience in Russia and behind the Iron Curtain, said in Chicago Sept. 3:

"I do not believe Russia has one single bomb. . . . I think every one of the atomic explosions in Russia was just a premature explosion, in an effort to produce a bomb."

Mrs. Roosevelt Again On U. N. Delegation Appointed By Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman announced yesterday appointment of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations General Assembly opening in New York Oct. 14.

It again will be headed by Warren R. Austin and will include Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt.

The custom of naming bi-partisan congressional representatives was followed by the appointment of Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) and Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.). Both are members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Alternate representatives are Philip C. Jessup, roving ambassador; Benjamin V. Cohen, career diplomat; Charles A. Sprague of Oregon; Edith S. Sampson of Illinois; and Isador Lubin of New York. Ernest A. Gross will be deputy under Austin.

'Enemy' Hunted By 160 Warships From 8 Nations

GOUROCK, Scotland (AP)—A powerful fleet of Atlantic Treaty warships slipped out of the River Clyde today for action stations in the North Sea as the curtain went up on "Exercise Mainbrace"—13-day naval war games with 160 ships of eight nations participating. American and British aircraft swept out over Scottish coastal waters in the path of the NATO warships, searching for planes and submarines of the "enemy" Orange force.

Norway Invaded
The Orange forces are supposed to have invaded North Norway. The Blue commander's task is to provide sea, air and land reinforcements for meeting the invasion and to stage an amphibious landing in Denmark.

The maneuvers, which began officially at midnight, will be waged over a sea area of half a million square miles. They will involve 85,000 men, including 40,000 U. S. sailors and Marines. Other nations taking part are Britain, Canada, Belgium, France, Holland, Norway and Denmark.

The NATO blue task force racing into the North Sea was ordered on the alert shortly after clearing port when an intelligence report warned that an Orange surface raider may be athwart its course.

Southern Texas Mops Up Flood

GONZALES, Tex. (AP)—It was all dirty work today—cleaning up after three days of cloudbursts turned South Texas streams into raging torrents.

The last flood threat in the area ended here last night when the Guadalupe River rose to 34.3 feet, remained stationary for several hours, then began slowly subsiding about 10 p.m.

Above Gonzales at the confluence of the San Marcos and Guadalupe Rivers there was a stretch of muddy flood water two miles wide.

The major damage was to crops in the lowlands. A few houses were flooded. Some livestock was lost.

It was much the same story in Seguin, New Braunfels, Johnson City, Llano and other small towns of the Texas hill country.

At least eight deaths, and possibly nine, have been blamed on the sudden, violent end of the dry weather in South and South Central Texas.

Truman Schedules Givem-Hell Tour

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman carried the Democratic National Committee's blessing today for an 8,500-mile, 15-day "give 'em-hell" campaign carrying him into 24 states.

His job, as the President has outlined it, is to be a sort of chief gunner in the presidential battle. He will champion his own and the Franklin D. Roosevelt record and fire away at the Republicans from coast to coast, while Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson charts the party program for the future.

At Least 50 Speeches
Truman's news conference assertion Thursday he will speak wherever the National Committee wants him to was followed by a White House announcement yesterday of a trans-continental trip embracing major speeches as far apart as New York and San Francisco.

The President's campaign train, between the time of his departure from Washington at 10:30 p. m., EST, Saturday, Sept. 27, until his return Sunday, Oct. 12, will cross enough states to assure a minimum of 50 rear platform whistle stop talks.

More To Come
Already tentatively lined up are six major talks. They are: Oct. 1, dedicating the Hungry Horse Dam

Press Route Man Helpful Fellow And Popular, Too

In his travels through his territory, bringing the Daily Press to its rural subscribers, route man Pat Farrell has variously been enlisted into service as a mailman, delivery boy, driver and shopper for the families on his route.

From driving the route six days a week for almost two years, the people on the line have come to know him well and to look for his car when they need a helping hand in shortening the distance from the outlying farms to Escanaba.

The help he gives is generally returned to him in various ways, the farmers being a grateful and generous customer, the 25 year old Farrell has discovered.

Woes And Blessings

He's found out that probably nobody knows how to get a car out of the snow pile or ditch like the rural dwellers. When his car's been stuck in the snow and it's been more than once, there was always someone who came along to pull the car out in short notice.

Counting the mixed woes and blessings of being a route man, he remembers one experience where the generosity of a subscriber had an adverse effect.

That was the time he was stuck in a mud hole and a farmer's wife offered him the farm tractor to pull the car out. Although he had never before been behind the steering wheel of that kind of a machine, he maneuvered it out of the yard and down to the road without much difficulty.

But getting the car free was another matter. The tricks of running a tractor never having been explained to him, he found himself far from being the master of the machine. After the long struggle a farmer came up the road and Farrell stepped aside while the expert got the car out without realizing there was a problem.

Help From Riders

The route Farrell travels with his bundles of the day's edition runs in a rough circle from Groos to Soo Hill, Five Points, Danforth, Flat Rock, Carroll's Corner, Brampton, Perkins, Rock, and finally to Trenary. From there he makes his way home with an empty car, except for the times he gives free transportation to a hitchhiker or a subscriber going his way.

When he picks up a rider along route, it's with the understanding, he says, that the passenger will place the papers in the Press tubes along the right side of the road. "They're all happy to do it," he tells.

Some of the things he has delivered from Escanaba to subscribers homes are dry cleaning, eggs, ice cream, and plants. He has brought in a pair of shoes to be shined and brought them back to a farm youth the next day. Once he bought a pair of shoes for a farmer with a Press ad as a guide, took them to the farmer, brought them back to exchange them for another size and made the final delivery the next day.

Corn Stalks And Mail

He has picked up a load of corn stalks for an American Legion Halloween dance and regularly brings in to Escanaba letters to be mailed for one elderly gentleman.

For these deeds, farmers thank him with gifts of flowers, vegetables, strawberries, pork chops, pork roast and pot roast.

"Sometimes I get paid in satisfaction for just having helped them," he says.

"Several times the farm kids meet me to get the paper and stop to talk for a minute. We both appreciate the visit because the country is pretty lonesome."

Driving Lesson

One of the experiences he remembers most clearly was the unexpected help he got from a seven year old girl.

"I was stopped at her father's Press tube when the car fell into a rut and stayed there. I tried to rock the car but it just kept digging deeper into the hole. I decided to jack the rear of the car high enough out of the holes so that I could push it off the jack and onto the road.

She watched me try this about

five times and get nowhere. After being quiet through all the struggle she finally said, 'Why don't you fill in the ruts with snow?'

"I didn't expect anything so helpful to come out of her but I did just what she said and it worked like a charm. That's a driving lesson I'll never forget," he claims.

Not only customers but telephone line workers, lumberjacks, loggers, county road workers and power and light company employees have helped him out of snowbanks and mud holes.

Obviously, he gets a kick out of his job.

Farrell and his wife, the former Janet Adams, live at 209 S. 8th St.

Indian Band In Logging Parade

The Indian Boy Scout drum and bugle corps of Bowler, Wisconsin, one of the outstanding musical organizations of the Middle West, will participate in the Logging Congress parade and other activities of the Congress in Escanaba next weekend.

There are 40 in the group, including five majorettes, all Stockbridge Indians. The group will leave Bowler Friday, Sept. 19 and will stop in various cities enroute to Escanaba to parade and to publicize the Logging Congress.

The group will give a demonstration Friday night on Ludington Street after the stores are closed and they also will march in the big parade Saturday afternoon.

John Krogdahl, parade chairman, reported today that more Escanaba entries are being sought for the big parade.

"We are getting terrific response for parade entries from all over the Upper Peninsula Wisconsin and even Minnesota," Krogdahl said, "but we would like to see more Escanaba entries. We do not require elaborate and costly floats. At least 30,000 people will see the parade and from present indications, the total may run as high as 45,000 people. This is a grand opportunity for Escanaba business and commercial establishments to display their services."

L. J. Heinske, secretary manager of the Timber Producers Association, was in Escanaba Thursday and Friday to complete many of the details for the big event. He will return to Escanaba Monday and will remain here for the rest of the week.

Pfc. R. J. Rogers Reported Missing In Action In Korea

Pfc Robert James Rogers, 19, has been missing in action in Korea since Sept. 5, the War Department has informed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Rogers, 211 North 19th street.

His parents were notified by telegram this week, but have not received a confirming letter, which is to follow.

Robert, a 1950 Escanaba High School graduate, left San Francisco for Korean frontline duty July 21. He went into service in June, 1950, and spent two years at Camp Lejeune, N. C., prior to going to Asia.

His brother, Airman First Class William W. Rogers, returned to the United States July 21 after spending a year in Korea. William arrived home last night on emergency leave from Camp Atterbury, Columbus, Ind. William is a veteran of World War II, and has been in the air force since February, 1951.

The Rogers have five children at home.

Escanaba Child Is Latest Polio

Jimmy Grow, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Grow, 327 South 12th St., today is receiving treatment at St. Luke's hospital, Marquette, for polio—the fourth case in Escanaba and the 28th in Delta county so far this year.

Mr. Grow is secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. The child became ill yesterday and was taken to Marquette last night. There was no apparent muscular involvement at this time, but the family was advised that it is yet too early to determine whether involvement may follow.

Sixteen of the 28 cases in Delta county have occurred in the Gladstone area, four have been in the city of Escanaba, and others are scattered in rural communities.

Health authorities describe the incidence of polio as epidemic in proportions. In Gladstone the school officials have cancelled gymnasium classes and athletic events for the time being, including the Gladstone-Munising football game.

To date in the Upper Peninsula there have been 80 reported polio cases, the highest since the 1940 epidemic.

Other Escanaba polio cases are Debra Peterson, Richard Gustafson and Sharon Bryers.

EHS Scholarship Holders Begin To Leave For Schools

At least seven Escanaba students who last year received scholarships from Escanaba Senior High School are making plans to leave shortly to attend various colleges.

Denis Harbath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Harbath of Bay View, left yesterday for Ann Arbor to begin studies in the University of Michigan. Denis, a U. of M. scholarship winner, was accompanied by Ted Sogard and Douglas Eden, who also will be studying at the University of Michigan, and by Ralph Sogard.

David Gasman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gasman, and Ted Rouman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rouman, are leaving today for the University of Michigan campus. Both received a Catherine Bonifas scholarship. They were accompanied by David Sundwick of Detroit, who spent the summer here.

Sunday, Elaine Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Block, is leaving to begin studies at Northern Michigan College of Education in Marquette. Elaine received an NMCE scholarship.

Also leaving for Marquette to study at NMCE are Joyce Sundquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sundquist, who received an NMCE scholarship; and Marilyn Friedgen and Shirley Lawson.

Connie Gallagher, daughter of the Dan Gallaghers, is leaving Sunday to begin studies in Ann Arbor under a University of Michigan scholarship. She was accompanied by Barbara O'Donnell, who also will attend the University of Michigan.

Lynn Bergman, who has a Michigan State College scholarship, leaves Sept. 21 for East Lansing; and Nancy Ostman, holder of a Mary Ellen French memorial scholarship, leaves Sept. 20, to begin nurses training at Wesley Memorial hospital in Chicago.

Roger Mattson, who received a scholarship to Michigan College of Mining and Technology, left Sept. 7 to begin studies at Houghton, Egn Seguin, Gladstone, Route One, who received the H. W. Reade scholarship, left Sept. 8 to begin studies at the University of Michigan; and Joan Nelson, who holds the 1951 Escanaba Woman's club scholarship, left Aug. 8 to begin studies at Evanston School of Nursing.

USAF Accents 10 Escanaba Men

The U. S. Air Force accepted all 10 Escanaba men who left Thursday for pre-enlistment examination at Milwaukee, the Army and Air Force recruiting officer here reports.

The men accepted, all from Escanaba, are as follows: Kenneth Erickson, George L. Cody, Dale Victorson, Arnold J. Johnson, Wayne C. Peterson, Donald G. Gilmont, Donald L. LeGault, Francis M. Mayville, Lorin G. Jemerand and Larry L. Doucette. All are going to Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex.

Seven Escanabans Enrolled At MSC

Seven Escanabans and a total of 14 Delta County students have been admitted to Michigan State College at East Lansing for the fall term, 1952.

The MSC enrollment of new and transfer college students totals 4,165, an increase of 22 per cent over the 1951 fall enrollment. The fall term opens Sept. 22 with registration and freshmen orientation week.

Included in the Michigan State admissions are 195 veterans. New enrollments comprise 3,332 freshmen and 333 transfers into the upper school of MSC. The new admissions are 1,901 women and 2,264 men.

The Delta County students are as follows:

Lynn M. Bergman, Jack F. Chriske, William J. Pital, Glena A. Fallmer, James S. Heiden, Randolph L. Rushton and Harold W. Flath, of Escanaba; Roger G. Beauchamp, John M. Whitney and Richard D. Whitney of Gladstone; Curtis L. Larsen of Stonington; John J. Benz of Cornish; Marie M. Van Damme of Rock; and Janet E. Good of Bark River.

Cornell PTA Cans Apple Sauce For Hot Lunches

CORNELL—Members of the Cornell Parent Teacher Association at a special meeting Sept. 10 canned 112 quarts of apple sauce for the school hot lunch program. Harnischfeger Land Sale Approved By Plan Commission

Sale of approximately 60 acres of city land to the Harnischfeger corporation for industrial development was approved by the Escanaba Planning commission yesterday.

The planning commission recommended that the city reserve the right to repurchase the land, if the property is not developed industrially. Forty acres of the property lies south of the Harnischfeger corporation holdings, and 20 acres north. Right of way for the Danforth road is not included in the sale.

The commission, meeting late yesterday afternoon in council chambers, discussed advisability of a relocation of the Danforth road to avoid routing traffic through the corporation's building site, but took no action.

A proposal by the engineering department to run blocks north and south instead of east and west, in the area between 5th and 18th avenues south and South 19th and 23rd streets, and to revise plans for dead-ending of streets in the area, was referred to the planning commission's planning committee for further study. The engineering department reports savings on sewer and utility installations could be made by revising present plans.

Plans for a band shell for the Karas Memorial committee were presented to the commission. Members of the planning group agreed that architecturally the plan was acceptable for use in Ludington Park, but questioned whether sufficient funds could be obtained by the Karas Memorial committee for its construction.

Plans to make the 18th avenue south intersection perpendicular to Lake Shore drive were approved by the commission.

Tahquamenon Most Popular

From the standpoint of attendance Tahquamenon Falls State Park is the most popular state park in the Upper Peninsula. It is reported by Glenn C. Gregg, Marquette, parks and recreational regional supervisor for the Department of Conservation.

The report reveals that this year 882,264 persons visited the 10 state parks in the U. P., an increase of 30,000 over last year.

Tahquamenon Falls attracted 148,925 visitors this year to top all other parks in attendance. Last year 124,660 persons visited Tahquamenon, while Fort Wilkins State Park in the Copper Country was tops with 147,200. This year attendance at Fort Wilkins had declined to 142,102.

Increasing attendance at Tahquamenon Falls was accounted for largely because of road construction that opened the wilderness area to touring motorists. Previously the only access for many years was by boat trips down the river.

Other U. P. State Parks and their attendance for 1952 are as follows:

1. DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE
2. DON'T SPEED
3. DON'T TEXT AND DRIVE
4. DON'T DRUG AND DRIVE
5. DON'T DISTRACT AND DRIVE

He helps reduce Accident Rates

YOUR property insurance agent knows the appalling frequency of serious, costly, often fatal accidents.

He takes an active part in promoting public school accident prevention programs—knowing that unless children are trained to guard against risks, they are among the most likely victims of accidents.

Your agent is also active in promoting business and industrial safety regulations and drills. He works to improve highway safety regulations.

Part of the money he collects from premiums is used by the insurance companies he represents to campaign against accidents and to raise prevention standards.

Ask your property insurance agent for advice about reducing accident hazards in your own home or your place of business. His recommendations are based on experience—his own, and the immense experience of the companies behind him.

Your property agent's advice costs nothing. Consult him!

Americans Buying 'On-The-Cuff'
Accumulate $15 Billion Debt

CREDIT buying by Americans has hit a record high, reports the Federal Reserve Board. The people of the United States now owe nearly 15 billion dollars on the things they are buying on time.

The trend is not remarkable, considering other factors in the national economic picture.

Production is at all-time high, income has soared to a new peak, inflation has devalued the dollar to approximately one-half its former value, federal taxation and the national debt are highest in U. S. history.

This is a period of extremes in all things, with new records being established almost annually. The cost of living has attained a new peak, wages are likewise up to a new record.

Everyone (theoretically, at least) is making more money and has more of it to spend. There should be less need for priming the economic pump by making purchases with so much down and the rest

Mossadegh Plays
Hard To Get

THE renewal of efforts to obtain a settlement of the Iranian oil dispute probably ought to be viewed as heartening. But thus far Premier Mossadegh has been making the same old noises and hope of real results is slim.

Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman offered fresh proposals because they know Iran is in difficult financial straits through loss of markets for its oil. The West could use the oil. But the primary impulse toward settlement is the fear that a tottering Iranian economy might make the nation easy prey to a Moscow-inspired Communist coup.

These problems, of course, have existed all along. The Churchill-Truman offer at this time suggests that the West feels Mossadegh might be more approachable now that he has felt the heavy financial pressure of the past several months.

But Mossadegh has shown no sign of readiness to give way. He knows the West trembles at the prospect his government might collapse and be replaced by a Red regime. Therefore he seems to feel that time is on his side, that if he can just hold out long enough the West will concede his full terms.

Those terms are stiff. Undoubtedly he wants a much bigger loan from America than the $10 million proposed now by Mr. Truman. More than that, in his anti-British fury he wants absolutely no concession of any sort to the British who built and managed the Iranian oil facilities and now find themselves out in the cold.

The Churchill-Truman plan would submit all questions of compensation to the British for settlement by the World Court. Mossadegh has rejected that solution flatly.

Mossadegh seems to believe that this little game is shrewd and is bound to pay off. He behaves as if he holds all the cards and merely needs to play them. But he already has made one major mistake. He thought the West needed Iranian oil desperately, and would come around long ago. In fact, the West, though at some pains to do so, found other sources of oil and is adding new refining capacity elsewhere. Today it is not waiting for a single barrel of Iranian petroleum.

If General Eisenhower could get votes as easily as he gets advice from different factions in his party, he might be pretty sure of election. Stevenson probably wonders, too, at times, whether he or another fellow is running.

In the Time of King David

David, first successful King of Israel, after the tragic downfall and suicide of Saul, the first chosen king, has become a great figure in succeeding centuries, a sort of religious symbol down to our time.

He is the harpist and singer, symbolizing music in life and worship; he is the Psalmist, voicing life's deepest emotions and aspirations; he is a symbol of the loyal and affectionate friend in his love for Jonathan, a counterpart in the religious world of the famous Damon and Pythias; and perhaps, more than any other famous man except Abraham Lincoln, he symbolizes magnanimity and elemental gentleness in such incidents as his sparing the life of Saul and in the famous incident of the water from the Well of Bethlehem (II Samuel 23:14-17).

But what of Israel during David's time? What was the condition religiously and socially of the people whom he consolidated for the first time into a nation?

For hitherto, I think it might be said, the Jews had been a people rather than a nation, with a tribal rather than a national organization—a fact strikingly interesting in our own time when there is again a Jewish nation in Palestine.

David, the successful man of war, brought peace to Israel. For the first time since the return from Egypt there was the opportunity for some permanency of building and prosperity.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON.—Lamar Caudle, the assistant attorney general who was fired by President Truman during the tax probe, made a far better impression on the Chief committee in executive session than when facing the Kleig lights and microphones of the King committee.

Congressmen got the impression that Caudle's over-all record as tax prosecutor was much better than judged by his incoherent testimony before the King committee.

Though the recent sessions were off-the-record in closed-door meetings, here are the highlights of his testimony:

1. He put the finger on two former Justice Department associates, Peyton Ford and Herbert Bergson, for warming up future law clients while still in the Justice Department.
2. Defended his old boss, Attorney General Tom Clark, now on the Supreme Court.
3. Indicated it was probably President Truman's fault that James E. Finnegan, the collector of internal revenue in St. Louis, was not fired. Caudle tried to help fire him.
4. Reported that Matt Connelly, a White House secretary, had asked him to delay one tax-fraud case against Irving Sachs of St. Louis.
5. Dramatically recited many tax cases that he had prosecuted despite lagging U. S. attorneys, among them cases against big-shot gamblers Sam Beard and Emmitt Waring of Washington, and Vaughan Cannon of Asheville, N. C.

OFF AGAIN-ON-AGAIN FINNEGAN
Most dramatic of Caudle's testimony was given in reply to congressional questions about the Finnegan case in St. Louis where U. S. Judge George Moore of St. Louis testified that the Justice Department through Ellis Slack, tried to sidetrack a grand jury.

"Drake Watson (U. S. attorney in St. Louis) telephoned me," testified Caudle, "and said, 'We've got a judge out here who isn't satisfied with the way we're handling tax cases before the grand jury. Can't you send someone out to help?'"

"I told Drake," continued Caudle, "All my men are busy here. We've got too many cases to try ourselves, and you know how understaffed we are as a result of Congress. I don't see how I can spare anyone."

"But finally I sent him," Ellis Slack. Later I got a call from Ellis in St. Louis that the judge would be perfectly happy with the way tax cases were being handled if Finnegan resigned.

"He'll have to resign right away," Ellis told me. "This judge means business. It won't do any good if he resigns next week; it's got to be right away."

"That's out of my bailiwick," I told Ellis," continued Caudle. "Finnegan's in the Treasury and I'm in Justice." But I promised to see what I could do.

"So I phoned Bill Boyle (then chairman of the Democratic committee) and located him in Hollywood, Florida, with Nate Lichtblau. I told him he ought to get Finnegan out right away."

"Then I called Schoeneman (commissioner of internal revenue), and I called Charley Oliphant," Caudle told the committee. "I wasn't able to get John Snyder (secretary of the treasury) but I did get Ed Foley (undersecretary of the treasury)"

OLD TRUMAN FEUD
However, nothing happened. Finnegan was not fired. Caudle added that he heard the White House refused to accept Finnegan's resignation because of an old personal vendetta between President Truman and Judge Moore. The two were old enemies, and apparently the President was not going to let Judge Moore tell him how to run the government.

Later, Caudle told the Chief committee, he was called to the office of Senator Williams of Delaware who has been probing tax irregularities. With him went Ellis Slack, Turner Smith, in charge of fraud prosecutions of the Justice Department's tax division, and Drake Watson, U. S. attorney in St. Louis.

"We walked down the hall to the senator's office," Caudle testified. "and I clapped to goodness. I looked over my shoulder and there was Drake Watson about a city block behind us. His knees were wobbling, his face was ashen and his eyes were little black dots sunk in his head. We had to wait outside the senator's office for him to catch up."

"When we got outside, Senator Williams was very courteous. But sitting beside him was Senator Ken of Missouri, who stood up, pointed his finger at Drake Watson, and took out after him something terrible."

"Do you know," he said, "that a judge has accused you of not properly conducting your office?"

Jersey Democrats Believe Adlai Is Tops; Even Better Than FDR

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

TRENTON—(NEA)—New Jersey Democratic leaders, rubbing their hands gleefully, talk as if Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois is just about the most valuable property their party has acquired since Thomas Jefferson.

The Democratic nominee has made just one brief foray into this state. The candidate's entourage roared down the New Jersey Turnpike at 90 miles an hour, veered eastward to Neptune near the Jersey shore and hauled up at the Jumping Brook Country Club.

It was quite a scene. The crowd, mostly party faithful and financial angels, was a bit unruly. There were successive stormings of the food tent, the speakers' platform, and other spots. The man picked to sing the national anthem never got to the platform.

But Stevenson did. And in a short 13 minutes he captivated most of the Democrats who were there. Some of them are already mentally carving his image in stone on Mt. Rushmore. South Dakota, alongside Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt.

Fearing to sound too enthusiastic, one leader held himself to this:

"Stevenson is the most independent, clear-thinking, objective man this country has seen in a long time. He's better than Woodrow Wilson or Franklin D. Roosevelt. He'll win in November, and he'll be one of the greatest American presidents."

Remember, these are Democrats talking. They're trying to sell something on the Nov. 4 market. But there's no mistaking it; they really think they have the goods.

In Democratic headquarters, a young fellow working for Archibald Alexander, New Jersey nominee for the U. S. Senate, spoke his piece on Stevenson:

"He picks you up off your feet. He gets close to you. I think that's why he nearly was mobbed at Jumping Brook. People want to touch the guy. His audience is the individual. He makes you feel he's talking to you personally."

Maybe this young man is better qualified to judge than some. At Princeton, he wrote a thesis on FDR's fireside chats.

A Jersey City politico who wasn't for Stevenson before his nomination conceded he cut a big swath in the state. "The guy has something," he mused. "You pick him out of a crowd of men in a picture."

But, not being a member of the original Stevenson Marching Society, this man ventured to criticize, too. He thought maybe the governor is relying too much on being funny, and that possibly he sometimes talks over the average man's head.

Said he:

"Stevenson is charming his friends, the intellectuals and the Princeton graduates. But wit is never loved. You can't hug it."

God's Living Letters

By Kirby Page

When I was a child, everything unusual excited me; now that I am old, everything usual has about the same effect. Everything usual! Everything usual excites me! A friend entitled a biography of him "Fellow of Infinite Jest."

William Lyon Phelps enjoyed life; he enjoyed people; he enjoyed teaching; he enjoyed lecturing; he enjoyed writing; he enjoyed great literature; he enjoyed music; he enjoyed the theater; he enjoyed sports; he enjoyed conversation; he enjoyed nature; he enjoyed the Bible and he enjoyed preaching, for he was a Baptist preacher.

President Seymour of Yale said of him: "It is difficult to speak of Billy Phelps except in superlatives. The great purpose of his career was to share with others his own perception of the beauty of literature, of music and of nature. He brought countless persons to realize that at the center of life is the spirit of loving kindness."

William Lyon Phelps of Yale was one of the greatest teachers of all time because he had developed to such a high degree the art of appreciation. For thirty-three years he was Professor of English Literature. Thousands of students who passed through his classes testify to his ability to awaken their interest, stimulate their minds, and invigorate their lives.

He was born in New Haven near the Yale campus in 1865, and lived until 1943. He came from a distinguished line of ancestors, and all his life was blessed with superior advantages of great variety. Few individuals have ever known so well so many of the great men of their generation as he did.

In the introduction to his autobiography, he writes: "Perhaps the chief source of my happiness lies in my gift of appreciation. I must have been born with it."

We don't really know yet how well this is taking with ordinary folk.

"Roosevelt was an aristocrat until he spoke. Then he talked to the guy with the glass of beer in his hand. Will Stevenson be able to?"

Most top New Jersey Democrats scoffed at this kind of talk as largely the work of carping Republicans. Remarkable one: "Stevenson can handle any kind of a crowd from bankers to bums. He may be talking a little over some heads now, but watch him get down, watch him."

When they could manage to set aside their catalogue of superlatives for a while, most key Democrats acknowledged, however, that Stevenson has an uphill fight for New Jersey's 16 electoral votes.

Before the candidate stormed them at Jumping Brook, they weren't too hopeful. Now they think they might do some real business Nov. 4. But at least one still is bearish about the prospects.

Governor Dewey won Jersey by 85,000 votes in 1948. Republican leaders here think General Eisenhower will do better. They figure him to win by at least 100,000. His potent appeal was well shown in the Spring presidential primary.

But everybody says it's really too early to tell. Republican leaders are still talking to the firmest members of their clan, and Democrats to their dearest brethren. When they begin to find out what the average voter thinks, the ecstasy won't be quite so all-embracing.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN
TOWN OF FIRES—The history of the Nahma community has tragic highlights of fires that threatened to destroy the town—and succeeded only in rousing determined rebuilding spirit.

The spirit is typified to the present day, when Charles Good of the Bay de Noquet Company, determined that Nahma would not die. Good's lumbering and mill operations closed for lack of logs, but Nahma is now owned by the American Playground Device Company which is already starting a new era of development there.

The story of fires in Nahma was recounted by Mrs. Frank Hruska, Nahma postmaster, at the recent Delta County Historical Society picnic program there.

Nahma's first big fire was April 15, 1899, when the mill burned. A bolt of lightning started the blaze. The Bay de Noquet Company immediately bought a mill at South Manistique and moved it to Nahma on scows.

NEARLY WIPED OUT—"The most devastating fire in Nahma was on June 30, 1921, at noon," Mrs. Hruska reported.

"Fire started in the fuel building of the power plant, apparently from spontaneous combustion. The power plant went out of commission, so there was no water pressure."

"Dr. Summerbell drove to St. Jacques to telephone the Gladstone and Manistique fire departments. The Nahma line was not working. There were few men in town at the time the fire broke out. Most of them were working on a road graveling job between Nahma and Nahma Junction."

"Nineteen homes were burned to the ground, besides the community building, general store, post office, meat market, office, boarding house, planing mill, garage, and woodmill."

THE FIRE FIGHTERS—"The people went back and forth with buckets and hose trying to put out the fire."

"Neli Fleming and Ruth Gustafson were the only persons at the hotel for Mr. Gustafson, the hotel manager, and his wife had gone to Ann Arbor to attend their son's graduation."

"The girls closed the hotel windows and the men kept the building wet with hose and buckets of water, so this building didn't burn."

"The weather had been very dry and warm for a whole month. The streets, at that time were paved with 'hog-fuel' from the mill, and the sidewalks were built of wood."

A MAN AND HIS TOWN—Arrival of the Manistique and Gladstone fire departments was credited with saving the rest of the town. Families not burned out donated food for the fire fighters. Tables were spread in the Nahma Hotel kitchen, which was open all night.

"F. W. Good, the father of Charlie Good, who was general manager at that time, directed the fire fighting and helped the men carry hose and did such other work as he deemed best to get the fire under control."

"With the interest of his people uppermost in his mind and seeing they were losing all their personal belongings, he worked all the harder. This was too much for him and late in the day he collapsed."

"While he was instrumental in making all the plans to rebuild, he never was well again and passed away on Dec. 19, 1921."

HELP AND MORE FIRES—Without food, lights or water after the fire, the people of Nahma buckled down to rebuilding. Emergency assistance was supplied by the American Red Cross. The National Grocer Company of Escanaba sent over two truckloads of food.

But fires were to continue to plague the sawmill town. In December, 1922, the second community building burned but the rest of the town was spared.

The sawmill burned in 1923, the general store in 1930, fire destroyed part of the roundhouse and damaged two locomotives in 1937, and in 1947 the third community building burned. This was rebuilt and continues today as the town's social center.

Nahma's last "big fire" was in April, 1949. The old Town Hall, the community's first public building, went up in smoke. It was not rebuilt.

"There may be some people still living in Nahma who remember all these fires and there are others who recall only one or two of them, but we all hope and pray that there will never be another one," Mrs. Hruska concludes.

Power With Words
By Dr. C. E. Funk

Call a man a roue (roo-AY) and you'll mean that he's addicted to the flesh-pots, given to sensual pleasures, drinking and carousing and having a gay old time generally. But the word got that meaning in a strange fashion.

Actually, the word originally had a far different meaning. It came from the French verb, rouir, meaning "to break the wheel," referring to a form of torture in which a man was tied to a wheel and struck with an iron bar so as to break the limbs. But when the Duke of Orleans became regent of France in 1715, he surrounded himself with a group of companions who, among themselves, indulged in every form of vice. The Duke called them his roués, because, had these men been held before a court, every one of them would have been condemned to be broken on the wheel.

Among the methods used to force these Protestants, the Huguenots, either to embrace Catholicism or to flee the country was to quarter soldiers among them. The soldiers selected were troops of dragoons, noted for their barbarity. The soldiers were given every license to plunder and outrage the homes and families where they were stationed. So ably did they perform their duties that thousands of Huguenots fled with such few possessions as they could carry and thousands of others forsook their faith.

Very few youngsters go to music lessons—they're sent.

Miss Birkenmeier, Edward R. Sandell Wed At Ann Arbor

St. Andrew's Episcopal Chapel in Ann Arbor was the setting last evening for the wedding of Miss Marion Cecile Birkenmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Birkenmeier, 1008 9th Ave. S., Escanaba, to Edward R. Sandell of Detroit.

The candlelight service at 7:30 was solemnized by Dr. Philip Schenk. White gladioli at either side of the altar formed the setting for the service and clusters of gladioli tied with large white satin bows marked the family pews.

The white satin jacket of the bride's ballerina length gown had long sleeves and a V neckline with a rolled collar. The bouffant skirt was of white nylon net over satin. Her white satin half hat with a shoulder length veil was trimmed with pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Changeable Organdy

Ballerina length green - rust changeable silk organdy gowns were worn by the young women who attended her. They were styled with close fitting bodices with large bows at one side, short jackets with cap sleeves and stand-up collars and full skirts. Rust and green velvet petals with green veiling formed their hats. They carried colonial bouquets of Talisman roses. Miss Gloria H. Birkenmeier was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Marianne Van Duzer of Detroit was bridesmaid.

Robert Powers of Birmingham was best man for Mr. Sandell who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Sandell of 3875 Lakewood Blvd., Detroit. Seating the guests were Emmett I. Smith Jr. of Detroit and Charles A. Rymes of Toledo, O.

Mrs. Birkenmeier attended her daughter's wedding in a brown silk tulle ensemble with rose accessories. Happiness roses formed her corsage. Mrs. Sandell wore beige marquisette over taffeta and a corsage of pink roses.

The reception for 80 guests was held in the Huxsey Room of the Michigan League.

Will Live in Ann Arbor

Mr. Sandell and his bride will live at 1115 S. University Ave. in Ann Arbor. The bride who is a teacher in Willow Run Village is a graduate of Escanaba Senior High School and of the University of Michigan where she received her A. B. this year. Alpha Gamma Delta is her sorority. Mr. Sandell, a senior in the University of Michigan Law School and a member of Lambda Chi Alpha and Phi Alpha Delta, received his A. B. from Michigan in 1950.

Wedding guests in addition to the immediate families included Misses Nancy and Mary Hodges, Miss Lois Wolta and Miss Loraine Hewitt of Grosse Pointe, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Rymes of Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McWhirter of Wyandotte, John Ryder of Toledo, Miss Sue Martin of Grosse Pointe, Patrick Heck of Toledo, Miss Anne Cleary of Ypsilanti, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ridgway, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Van Duzer Jr., Miss Margaret Logan, Miss Mildred Paavo, Miss JoAnne Auch, Jay Bell, Mrs. R. N. Garfield, Patrick Cusick, John Box and Gary Hicks of Detroit.

Vows Spoken By Margaret Peterson, Robert A. Seidl

In a double ring ceremony at 9 a. m. today at St. Joseph's Church, Miss Margaret Anne Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Manfred Peterson of 208 N. 10th St., and the late Mr. Peterson, became the bride of Robert Anthony Seidl. The vows were spoken before the Rev. Stephen Schneider, O. F. M., who was celebrant of the nuptial high mass.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Leo Whitens, wore a gown of white imported nylon net and Chantilly lace. The lace bodice was detailed with a Peter Pan collar and the long lace sleeves tapered to points over the hands. The lace was repeated in the deep peplum at the waistline, which extended into a cascade over the bouffant skirt and the cathedral length train of nylon net. Her veil of nylon net, edged with matching lace, was fingertip length, caught to a heavy satin Juliet cap edged with tiny seed pearls. Her single strand of pearls was the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bridal bouquet of cascading white mums and white roses and a white crystal rosary.

Aides in Hyacinth Pink

Her attendants, Miss Joyce Vogel of Tulsa, Okla., who was maid of honor, and Mrs. James Harvey of Escanaba, the bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of hyacinth pink tulle and satin. The strapless dresses had satin bodices complemented by satin and shirred nylon tulle capes. The bouffant skirts, chapel length, had a double row of shirred tulle and satin below the hipline. Both aides wore headbands of matching shirred nylon tulle and they carried colonial bouquets of deep lavender asters centered with delicate pink rose buds.

Robert Harvey served as best man for Mr. Seidl who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Antone Seidl of 305 N. 10th St. Groomsman was James Harvey and ushering were Francis Corbett and Robert Holmes.

Mrs. Peterson selected a black crepe dress with matching bolero and black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Seidl was attired in a green and black check suit dress with which she wore black and white accessories. Red roses formed the mothers' corsages.

Dinner and Reception

The music of the wedding mass was sung by St. Joseph's Choir. Miss Alice Cossette, organist played the processional and recessional by Joseph McGrath. The hymn, "Ave Maria" was sung by Mrs. Ray Olson just before the service and at the close of the mass, as the bride placed a bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin, Earl Owen sang "On This Day."

The altar flowers were white gladioli. Like flowers were in two baskets at either side of the entrance to the sanctuary.

The wedding dinner for 33 guests was served at 12 noon at the Dells and the reception this afternoon for 300 guests is being held at the home of the bride's parents. Decorations are mainly in white with contrasting bouquets of mixed gladioli. The bridal table with its white linen cloth is centered by the four tiered wedding cake decorated with pink roses. Mrs. Francis Corbett, a sister of the bride, is serving the wedding cake, and Miss Joan Corbett is presiding at the silver service.

Alice L. Terens Is The Bride Of Tom Mullineux

White nylon tulle was worn by Miss Alice Louise Terens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Paquette of Bark River, for her wedding this morning to Tom Holmes Mullineux of Chicago.

The gown was styled with a snug bodice with seed pearl design and illusion yoke and a bouffant skirt which formed a cathedral train. Her veil of nylon tulle was caught to a Juliet cap. She carried a lavender orchid with cascading white baby mums.

The 11:30 ceremony was performed by the Rev. Joseph Dunleavy at St. George's church in Bark River.

Rust Nylon Tulle

Gowns of rust pleated nylon tulle with rust satin trim at the waist were worn by the bride's attendants, Miss Norman Myers of Breckenridge, Mich., who was maid of honor, and Miss Pat Baum, of Tallahassee, Fla., and Miss Alice Ann Niquette of Bark River, the bridesmaids. The gowns were ballerina length. Caps with illusion veiling and short white gloves completed their attire. They carried cascades of yellow and bronze mums.

Lawrence Grant Mullineux was best man for his brother. They are sons of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mullineux of 645 East 83rd Place, Chicago. Ushers were Richard Zeuber and Gene Gannon.

Mrs. Paquette selected a brown crepe afternoon dress with a white inset collar for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Mullineux wore a beige tailored afternoon dress. The mothers' corsages were yellow roses.

Mrs. Ray Olson, who was soloist of the service, sang "Ave Maria" by Schubert, "Panis Angelicus," "What Could My Jesus Do More?" and "On This Day," as the bride placed a bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

MY friends are always trying to plant something on me. And all I'm guilty of is not having enough pots to put them in! This situation can be beautifully remedied, of course, at Eden's Gift Shop where you can find planters of all sizes and colors. Brass open work in an oriental design holds some fine California pottery in a rich shade of green trimmed with either red, gray or chartreuse. Planters especially fine for African violets (requiring water from the bottom) are those with not only trays attached—bottom openings let the water seen into the soil. The long and narrow pots are designed for marials and window sills. You'll love Eden's planters right off—and the flowers will grow on you!

And that goes for any business you entrust to our care... big, small or in between.

The Ferncrest

Planned For Easy,
Modern Living

Rooms Five
Bedrooms Two
Closets Six
Cubage, House 22,500 ft.
Garage 6,800 ft.
Dimensions 43' x 26'

This modified ranch house has five rooms plus a breezeway or screened porch that connects the house proper with the two car garage. If you want to have your laundry on the first floor rather than in the basement, you can easily have this porch way made into a laundry or utility room.

Overall measurements of "The Ferncrest" are 43' x 26'; thus, you can build this handsome, thoroughly modern home on a 65 foot lot. Cubage of the house is 22,500 feet; cubage of the garage is 6,800 feet.

Shingles are suggested as the ideal exterior finish because they seem to so perfectly suit the home-like qualities of "The Ferncrest." If you want your home to have an especially neat appearing exterior as well as one that will be in good taste in any location paint the shingles white and rely upon blinds and roofing to add that all important and distinctive dash of color.

Do you have to stick closely to that building budget? Well, if you do, you can still call "The Ferncrest" your home. The house proper can easily be built as the first stage of construction with the porchway and attached garage added at some later date, when more funds are on hand.

If you have no need for a two car garage you can save building expenses by having a one car garage constructed instead. However, make such arrangements with your builder before construction work is started. And, if you do plan to build in stages be sure to obtain a large enough lot to hold the house and attached garage.

Seven good sized, centrally located closets provide an abundance of storage space in "The Ferncrest." To obtain a really safe off-season storage place for fine woollens and blankets you can have the spacious closet opening on the central hall opposite the linen closet lined with cedar. This is not an expensive undertaking and can be performed most easily when the house is constructed.

Only the heating plant will have to be installed in the basement of "The Ferncrest," if you have the laundry on the first floor. Under the living room is the selected location for the heating plant. And, should you prefer a basement laundry, place it under the kitchen. Be sure to provide bulkheads for safe and easy access to the yard from the basement.

For plan prices, write to the Home Building Editor, Dept. 15, Daily Press and enclose a self-addressed, 3 cent stamped envelope. Allow 7 to 10 days for a reply.

Polio May Make Record In 1952

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said last night that 1952 may be this country's worst polio year.

The foundation said the incidence rate so far was 76 per cent above last year and 4 per cent above that for the same period in 1949, the year of this country's worst polio epidemic.

By the end of last week, the foundation said, the number of cases this year had climbed to 27,359, the highest ever reached by this date.

The foundation said the 15 states hit hardest are:

Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Texas, South Dakota, New Mexico, Kansas, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Idaho, Wisconsin, Michigan, Washington, Mississippi, Louisiana.

Little Nude Child Takes Casual Stroll

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP)—A cute little blonde in the nude was reported walking on a Centralia street about dawn.

Police came back with this: "Found her. A blonde about 18 months old. Kept pointing south. Couldn't understand her baby lingo. Let her go and followed her to home. Name Gale Atkins. Father said she was in bed when he got up. Crawled down the steps and was on her way."

Bean Canning Is Big Business At Gladstone

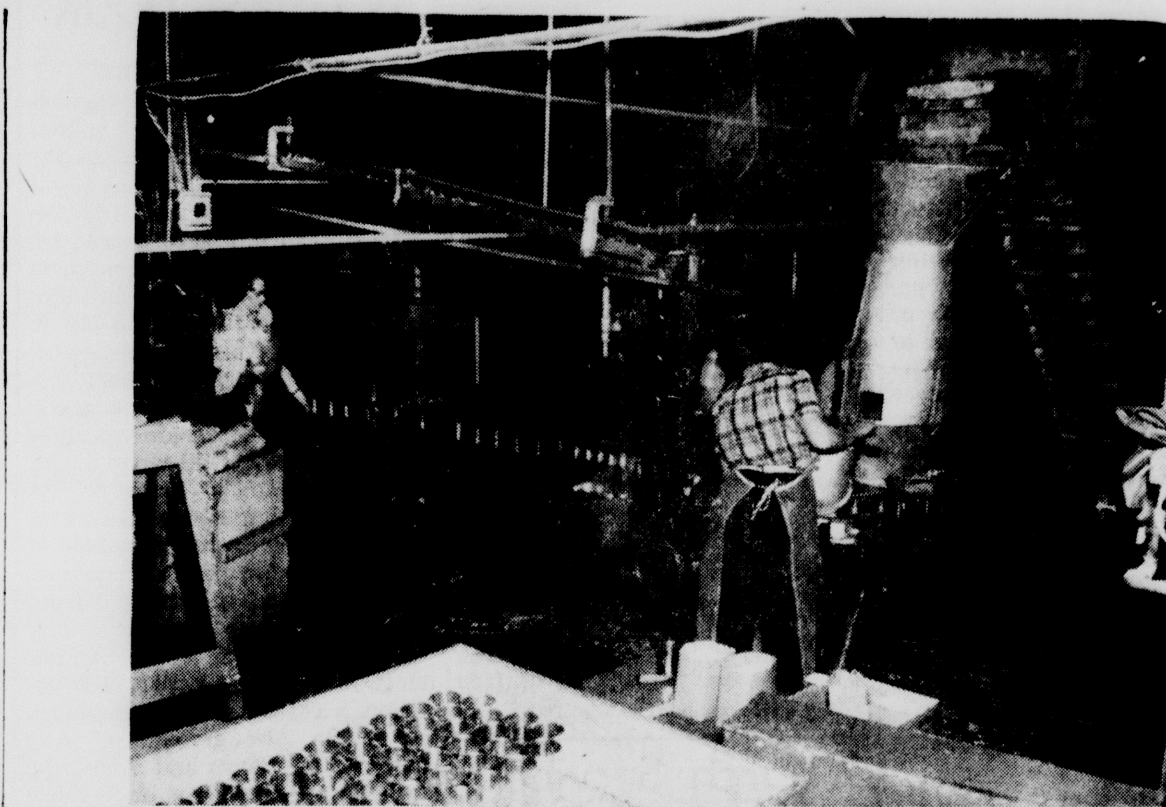

A CREW OF over 250 persons sorts, cuts, processes and packs green and wax beans, grown in Delta, Menominee and Schoolcraft Counties, at the Country Garden cannery in Gladstone. This operation shows a corps of women sorting the beans.

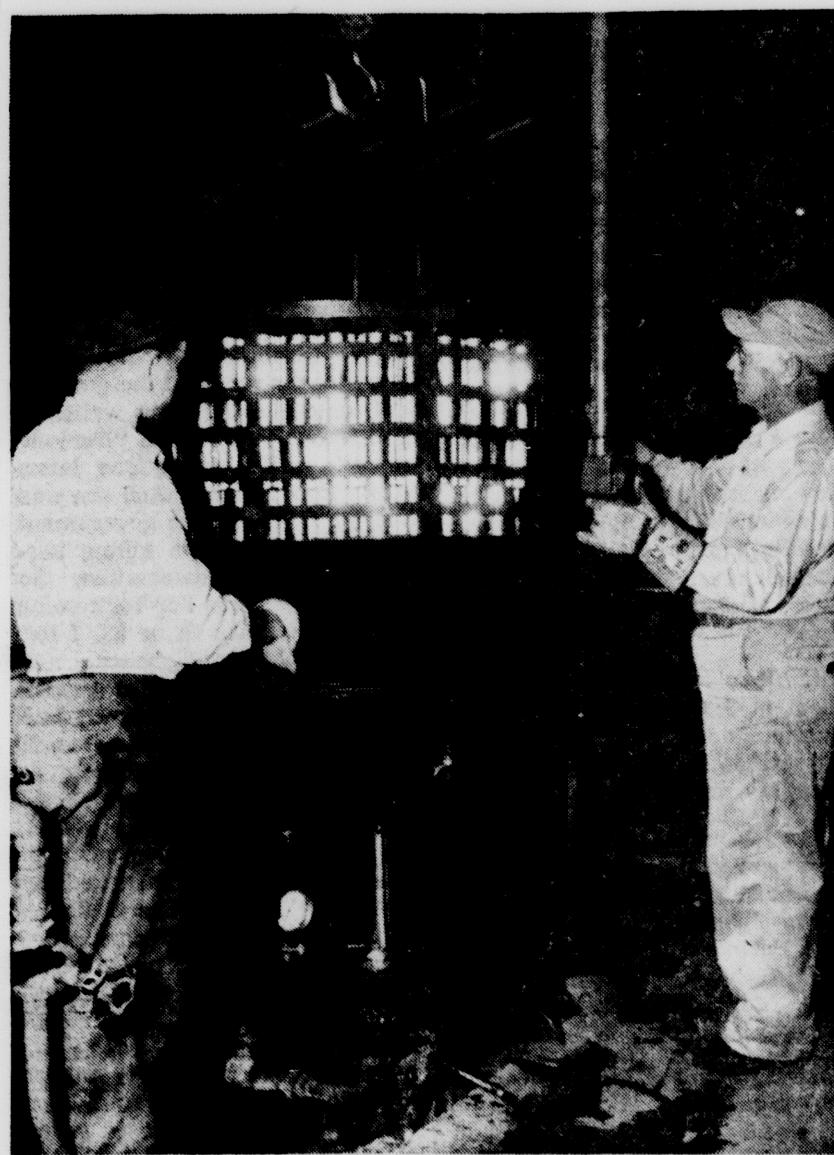

BEANS ARE CUT AND GRADED in these revolving machines. The beans come from 325 contract farmers from Stephenson to Germfask. Next year it is planned to increase the acreage in beans for the Gladstone cannery. Also in the offing is the canning of peas and small potatoes. Extensive remodeling of the plant is planned.

HOW MANY CANS in a carload? 10,000, says Joe Van Arnum, manager of the Country Garden cannery at Gladstone. An endless belt transports cans to the capping machines. Mrs. Oscar Anderson and Alice Sandstrom are the ladies in this picture.

CAPPING THE CANS is the payoff operation at the bean cannery. The beans travel up the endless carrier and fill the cans at the capping machines. The cans are capped at the rate of 140 to 150 per minute. The canning of beans started July 1 this year and will continue until frost.

Students Name Class Officers

Election of officers was held by various classes of Gladstone high school on Friday.

The staffs follow:

Seniors — President, Richard Sundling; Vice-president, Patricia Stenac; secretary, Marilyn Royer and treasurer, Richard Ducheny.

Juniors — President, Lorraine Sundling; vice president, Melvin Blomquist; secretary, James Bruso and treasurer, Robert Burton.

Sophomores — President, Tom Brewer; vice-president, Norman Butler; secretary, Joyce Farrell and treasurer, James Waeghe.

Freshmen — President, Jeanette Krout; vice-president, Gloria Burcar; secretary, Claire VanDamme and treasurer, Phyllis Royer.

Worthy of note is the fact that two sisters are holding offices in different classes, Phyllis Royer being treasurer of the freshman class while Marilyn Royer is secretary of the senior class.

Britain And U. S. A. Plan Conferences On 'Dollar Crisis'

By JOHN A. SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new "dollar crisis" conference between Britain and the United States appears to be shaping up for early next spring.

Prime Minister Churchill himself may fly to the United States then to talk with the next American president about Britain's ideas for new moves to strengthen the Western world's finances.

Nothing definite about the dates for any such high level meeting has been decided upon. But American and British financial and trade experts are already busy behind the scenes exploring possible proposals for action.

Up To Next President

The present plan calls for government officials to draft a comprehensive report summing up the West's economic problems. This is to be laid on the desk of the new president after he assumes office Jan. 20 along with alternative proposals for United States action to meet the situation.

Officials here believe it likely that Churchill will want to discuss these problems personally with the next president. If he doesn't come himself, it is believed virtually certain he will send Foreign Minister Anthony Eden and Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, R. A. Butler, to talk with the next American secretary of state and treasury.

President Truman, questioned about this at his news conference yesterday, said any such discussion would necessarily be with the new administration and that he knew nothing about it.

The backstage study now going on in American government agencies seems to stem from a growing belief that America's allies may have to halt their rearmament drive unless new financial props are found for their shaky economies.

Britain and France already have cut back their rearmament schedules and American defense experts fear any further cuts in arms expenditures may seriously hurt the West's master plan for defense against communism.

What new steps can be adopted to bolster Western finances is not yet certain. Congress appropriated a total of $6,447,730,750 for military, economic and technical aid to nearly 40 countries during the 12-month period ending next July 1.

Altogether, nearly 26 billion dollars has been provided by the United States to friendly countries during the past four years, beginning with the unprecedent Marshall Plan for Western European recovery.

Stabilization Fund Proposed
The present thinking is that the foreign aid program must be continued for several more years but that additional steps are urgently needed to make certain that Western European countries can put their financial houses in order in the foreseeable future.

The informal ideas that are being mentioned most frequently both by American and foreign financial experts are:

1. An international stabilization fund of some two or three billion dollars. This would be set up to guarantee that foreign currencies could be exchanged into dollars, thus helping expand world commerce.

2. American agreement to buy strategic raw materials such as rubber, tin, copper, and other metals on a long-term contract basis running from five to 10 years. This would insure a steady source of dollars to foreign countries and permit them to expand production with confidence of a ready market. It would also help build America's strategic stockpile of materials set aside for emergency use.

3. A big plan to greatly expand private United States investments in overseas areas. This might take the form of an iron-clad government guarantee to investors for compensation in event their overseas properties are nationalized, confiscated or seized as a result of war or other emergency.

4. A determined drive by the administration to persuade Congress to streamline American customs regulations in an effort to facilitate the entry of foreign products into the United States.

5. Reaffirmation by the United States of its dedication to the principle of lowering tariffs and possible new tariff-cutting agreements with other nations.

6. Possible changes in the statutes of the multi-billion dollar international fund. This international institution has a capital of $7,300,000,000 which is supposed to be used to help expand commerce. Many foreign countries are disappointed with the fund's role thus far and believe a drastic change in its function is needed so it can achieve its objective.

Blood Donors
Being Sought

Donors are needed for the blood plasma procurement center to be set up here on Monday from 2 to 8 at Gladstone high school.

Plans for the clinic have been set up by the Delta County Chapter of the American Red Cross and the Delta County Medical Society. In addition to the one here, centers will be set up in Escanaba on Tuesday and Wednesday and in Garden on Thursday.

The centers are being sponsored for the purpose of obtaining blood from which plasma and plasma fractions will be processed. The plasma and fraction will then be returned to Delta county for use.

Dr. Thomas McNerny advises that the present supply of plasma is dangerously low. It is invaluable in saving lives of persons undergoing surgery, those hurt in accidents or fires or those being treated for certain diseases.

Wallace C. Cameron, superintendent of schools, in Gladstone recruiter for donors and persons wishing to aid may phone him at school or home. Mrs. Grier Ivory is registrar with Mrs. H. J. Miller as assistant. Miss Jean Miller is in charge of the canteen.

Arrangements for the part were made by the Mmes. J. J. Gnat, Alphonse DeMenter, Louis VanDamme, Wm. McCormick and Harvey Groleau.

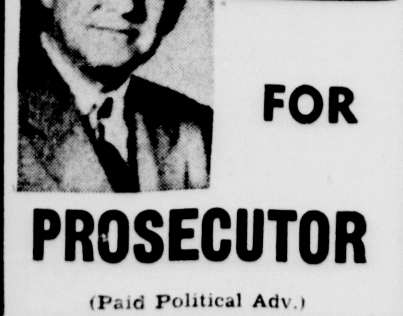

Miss Davis will be married next Saturday, Sept. 20, at 10 a. m. in All Saints Catholic Church.

Ford Union Returns
Former Unity Slate
In Local Election

DETROIT — (AP) — Members of the huge Ford Local 600 of the CIO United Auto Workers union have returned to office a "unity slate" of officers headed by President Carl Stellato.

The local election marked the end of the administration of the Ford local by the union's international executive board. The executive board took over control of 600 following a House Un-American Activities Committee Communism hearing.

At that time, Stellato and other key officers of the local were suspended by the international executive board.

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—In dreadful anguish like unto passing the camel through the needle, I have spawned several books in my time—all unimportant, writ by hand, no social significance, and dispensed by carrier pigeon. I never mentioned one by name to peddle it, like some of my confreres who lay in the plug on a weekly basis, quoting title, price and publisher.

But I will write a piece about my new one, whose name escapes me. Or rather, I will write of the effect of birthing a book on its papa. I think motherhood is easier. It isn't so much the trouble of the labor or the pangs of producing as the effort of raising it from a pup.

To write a book is no simple thing. One needs paper, a typewriter, a certain basic stupidity, and time. Also arrogance. Any bum who sits down and figures he has 300 book pages of importance is an arrant ass. Nobody has that much to say worth saying. Neither Shakespeare nor Artie Shaw.

Dirty Hard Work
The trouble with writing books is that there are so many commas and paragraphs and things. So much bricklaying and lathe-nailing to do, in between the pregnant portents, that it is just dirty hard work even if you are plagiarizing. A creature who writes books for any reason except his or her own amusement is nuts. And if it is amusement you want you can look at the national scene and bust a gut, for free.

Except Kathleen Winsor. This girl writes for fun, and the government sanctifies it. She writes a real bad one first, called "Forever Amber", and a worse one later, called "Star Money". And she was so right. Doll, and the government decides that she was killing herself for her own delectation. So the Treasury gives her back some $20,000-plus. Like 26 or 28, I forget, out of collected taxes, and then the government also awards a similar sum to a divorced husband. The pair get better than 50 G's back from Starving Sam, as we call the ship of state these days. Bob Herwig, the husband, was an ex-football player. The government figured it owed Herwig 20-plus G's as Winsor's divorced mate, because of community property regulations, on a book she wrote before she divorced him and married Artie Shaw. Artie was a clarinet player.

This is what the trade calls a powerful piece. I am coming out strong for no income taxes on Artie Shaw's new book, which was obviously written for his own amusement, too. There could be no other explanation for the book.

If Miss Winsor's first divorced husband got dough from the income taxers for a book written for Miss Winsor's own amusement, then Mister Shaw, now divorced also or likewise from Miss Winsor, simply must be shown amnesty by the collectors for a book written for his own amusement after she sued him, else there is no justice in the land.

It Will Be Taxed
I am sorry if this is confusing, but this is the way she sets. It is just not fair for Miss Winsor's first divorced husband to get money for Miss Winsor's art if Miss Winsor's second divorced husband, a book write for true, is forced to pay the taxes which afflict us ordinary authors. And you cannot say that an habitual, known clarinet player is an ordinary author.

Having exhausted my Zola mood I will come to a summation of my own fresh triumph in the arts. It has got as many pages as most books, and more than some. It is tenderly dedicated to my liver,

Grandfather Shot
As Reb Sympathizer
During Civil War

Joel King, father of E. T. King of Manistique, who died Sept. 7 in Claycomo, Kansas, was a small boy when northern irregulars during the Civil War entered his home and shot his father for being a Confederate sympathizer.

His father, Morgan King, who would be E. T. King's grandfather, was hit in the jaw by the bullet but survived and lived three years, finally dying from the bullet injury.

The Kings were living near Excelsior Springs, Kansas, at the time and Joel was standing by his father's side when the irregulars entered the King home at night. The incident was part of a near civil war within the state which resulted in the historic name of "bleeding Kansas."

Joel King, who would have been 100 years of age on Oct. 14, was a former mayor of Holt, Kansas, and a county road overseer for several years. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Floyd Bowles of Claycomo; twin sons, E. T. King, of Manistique, and E. P. King, of Claycomo; seven grandchildren and 22 great grandchildren.

City Softball Play
Stopped By Darkness

The city softball tournament was halted by darkness Thursday night with a tie score of 8-8 between the Fords and Inland.

The Fords and Inland teams were playing the semi-final game for the right to meet Christy's Bar in the finals.

As a result of this delay the Fords and Inland will meet at the Court House diamond Sunday afternoon following the Cardinal-Cooks baseball game, with the winners to meet Christy's at a later date.

Scores this week were: Christy's Bar 7, Fords 4. Inland 18, K. C. 10. Fords 5, National Guard 1.

Quake Is Quickie

PASO ROBLES, Calif. (AP) — A second earthquake, sharply felt but causing no damage, shook the Paso Robles area last night.

Paso Robles is 95 miles west and slightly north of Bakersfield, severely damaged by a quake Aug. 22.

without whose constant encouragement the author would feel no choler, and would also be dead. If it makes any money it will be taxed, never you fear, because I was never married to Kathleen Winsor. Or even to Winston Churchill, who classifies his literary output as antiques and beats the rap that way.

Speaking critically, I would say that my chef d'oeuvre could have been written far better by any one of Billy Rose's ghosts, or even by book reviewers. And so, as the sun sinks over Clifton Fadiman's memoirs, off we go to get shredded by the critics on the TV, press and radio. Like I said, kids. The pain of authorship cometh not in the process of production. It arrives when some four-eyed sadist chuckles once for the studio audience and says, Simply: "whatever possessed you to write this thing anyhow?"

Governor Here
Next Friday

Governor G. Mennen Williams will speak to Schoolcraft County Democratic leaders at a 9 a. m. breakfast meeting at Denny's restaurant Friday, Sept. 19, it is announced by John W. Kelly, chairman of the county Democratic committee.

Accompanying the governor will be Robert S. McAllister, Democratic candidate for secretary of state, and John T. Damm, candidate for attorney general.

Governor Williams and his group also are scheduled to make several other appearances during their Upper Peninsula tour.

Wyoming Antelope
Hunt Is Success
For Cooks Trio

Three men from the Cooks area and a hunting partner from Detroit have returned from Wyoming where they were successful in bagging their quarry during an antelope hunting derby at Rawlins.

Alec Weigandt of Cooks and Angelo Corusico of Detroit shot down antelope bucks on Sept. 4, Jerry Decker of Thunder Lake bagged a buck on Sept. 6, and Joseph Hardy, Cooks farmer, downed a nice buck antelope on Sept. 8.

The antelope derby opened at Rawlins on Sept. 3, and Wyoming law permits taking one antelope, either a buck or a doe. High-powered rifles and telescope sights are used in the hunt.

Motion pictures and stills of the hunt were made by Weigandt. The

Central League
Reorganized For
Bowling Season

The Ladies' Central Bowling League was reorganized for the fall and winter season at a meeting this week at the State Savings Bank conference room.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Nick Parente; vice president, Miss Mary Danko; secretary, Miss Beverly Winsor; treasurer, Mrs. Bud Malloy; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Jerome Martinson.

The group decided that averages would be established at a bowling event Sept. 24 and that a regular schedule of play would start Oct. 1.

Games are to be rolled in two shifts at 7 and 9:15 p. m., with a handicap of 80 percent being used. Team captains were instructed to complete organization of their teams by Sept. 20 and report the names of players either to the league president or secretary.

Social

Bridge Club
Mrs. Alvin Nelson, 324 Range St., entertained members of her bridge club at a 6:30 dinner Thursday evening at her home.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. William A. Corson, high; Mrs. Ira Crawford, second; and Mrs. A. J. Cayia, low.

Mrs. Corson was a guest of the club.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness and sympathy in our bereavement, the death of our dear husband and father, Mr. ALFRED BELLEFEUILLE, who passed away on September 15, 1952. We are grateful to Rev. W. Edwin Colegrove for his comforting words, to the pallbearers, to those who sent flowers, those who offered the use of their cars and to all who helped us in any other way.

John Sutter, former Gladstone High School griddier, captured the heavyweight boxing championship at Great Lakes Training Center recently, registering two knockouts and a decision in his three starts. Sutter, weighing 194 pounds, scored a second round knockout in his first fight, won a unanimous decision in his second and then KO'd Clarence Sneed in the third round of the championship fight. Sutter, well-known in amateur boxing circles here, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Sutter of Gladstone.

Also appearing in the Great Lakes tournament was Clyde Schutte of Marinette, one of the better fighters in the U. P. Golden Gloves championship tournament here last winter. Schutte, who came on the program just before Sutter won his title, was knocked out by Rudy Sawyer, veteran Chicago amateur, in the first round.

This is the only weekend in the 1952 football season that fans will see no action on the local gridiron scene. Escanaba played last night in Ironwood and St. Joe is at Stambaugh tonight. Gladstone's game at Munising has been cancelled. But from now on to the end of the season at least one of the three teams will be at home each weekend.

Promoters of the wrestling show which will climax the Logging Congress here Saturday night have been digging for a top name to headline the program. A final decision has not yet been made, but among the names being kicked around are Tony Galento, Primo Carnera and Bronco Nagurski.

We don't believe it, but there is a rumor out that Johnny Lujack is slated to take over at Nore Dame next year. The word is that Lujack will step out. Lujack recently joined the Irish coaching staff as a replacement for Bernie Crimmins who moved to Indiana. Doesn't seem likely that the great Notre Dame grid tradition would be placed in the hands of a greenhorn like Lujack, but there's always that possibility.

Grid fans will remember the powerful Marinette team that was rated among the top eleven in the state of Wisconsin last season. Coach Howie Stiehm is reported having trouble replacing 19 gridders who graduated from last year's squad. Jim Schmidt, 140-pound halfback, has been named captain of the team.

Stock Car Races And Pro Wrestling Slated For Logging Congress

The 1952 Upper Peninsula championship stock car races and a professional wrestling card will highlight the weekend program of the Logging Congress here next weekend.

Long Scrimmage For Wolverines

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Coach Bennie Oosterbaan led his Michigan Wolverines into the huge Michigan stadium for the first of two pre-season football tests.

Scheduled was a long scrimmage between the varsity and the reserves, designed to deny or confirm coaching conclusions about the 72-man squad that will launch the 1952 season Sept. 27 against Michigan State's nationally ranked Spartans. The session was closed to all but the press.

Oosterbaan planned to field a starting gridiron directed by the veteran Chicago quarterback Ted Topor; Frank Howell and Ted Kress rated the halfback spots with sophomore Fred Baer at fullback.

Veteran Lowell Perry was slated for duty at one end with either Capt. Merritt Green or Thad Stanford at the other. Likely tackle starters were Ralph Stribe and Dick Dugger and Dick Beison at the guard slots and Dick O'Shaughnessy at center.

Yesterday, Oosterbaan gave way to the third day of 90-plus heat by skipping the usual contact work. Instead, the Michigan coach concentrated on kicking, with regular Russ Rescorla, freshman Tony Brannoff and Duncan McDonald leading the point after touchdown corps.

CHICAGO (AP)—This could be upset day in the Western Amateur Golf Tournament if Harvie Ward and Frank Stranahan pay too much attention on meeting each other in the finals.

The two friendly rivals engaged seasoned opponents in today's 36 hole semi-finals. If they come through on top, they'll be dueling each other in tomorrow's double round championship match.

Stranahan, the defending Western titleholder, has been waiting since last June to catch up with the 25-year-old Ward in another showdown. It was then at Prestwick, Scotland, that Ward blasted Frank 6 and 5 to win the British amateur crown.

The stock car races, which drew a record crowd here on the closing day of the U. P. Fair, will be held Friday afternoon, Sept. 19, at the State Fair park oval. The wrestling program will be presented at the Junior high school gymnasium Saturday night at 8:30.

Featured in the stock car races will be the outstanding drivers and cars from the Upper Peninsula, Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota tracks. A field of nearly 50 cars is expected.

The race program will begin with time trials at 1:30 and the first of three heat races will start at 2:30. A semifinal and a feature race will follow. Drivers will be shooting for trophies and cash purses.

Among the early entries is Joey Longtime of Ishpeming who captured the 25-lap feature race at the U. P. fair. Other well known racers already entered are Jack Marble of Gladstone, Leon Fraker of Iron Mountain, Jim Richer of Iron Mountain and Gene Chartier of Niagara, Wis. A half a dozen drivers from Powers, Escanaba and Gladstone will be in the huge field.

IRONWOOD — (Special) — The Escanaba Eskymo line threw up a rock-like barrier inside its five-yard line three times here last night to halt Ironwood scoring thrusts and hold the Red Devils to a 0-0 tie.

Coach Joe Milokna's Eskys dug in to halt the rampaging Red Devils three times in the first two quarters and in the fourth period stopped a fourth scoring drive by recovering a fumble on the Escanaba two-yard stripe.

Ironwood had command of the ball throughout the first half and lanced deep into Escanaba territory. The Eskymos were unable to form an attack and never crossed midfield until the third period.

But in that third quarter the Eskymos drove to the Ironwood 10-yard line and sent right halfback Charley Bellefeuille in a scoring slant off left tackle. The play was nullified by an offside penalty, however.

Try Field Goal

Three plays later the Eskymos were driven back to the 17-yard line from where Dick Peterson came in for a field goal attempt.

The ball headed straight for the uprights but fell short and Ironwood took over.

The Red Devils also had a scoring play called back. Big Pat Cvenegros, 190-pound Ironwood fullback, ripped through left tackle and charged 51 yards to score, but offensive holding nullified the play and sent the Red Devils back to their own 34.

From there the Ironwood eleven ground out air and rushing gains to the Escanaba two-yard line.

Cvenegros blasted into the unyielding Escanaba line and fumbled the ball. Right tackle John Peterson recovered for the Eskymos.

With less than a minute remaining in the game, Escanaba made a thrilling scoring bid that was halted by the final gun. Quarterback Fred Boddy fired a screen pass to halfback Dick Carlson who gathered in the ball just over the line of scrimmage and raced 44 yards to the Ironwood 26 where Arnold Lakvold, Red Devil safety, pulled him down from behind.

Passes Fail

Three passes failed and Carlson moved the ball to the Ironwood 22 when the final gun sounded.

The Red Devils took to the air early in the game and rattled Escanaba's pass defense. Twice Cvenegros had clear shots at receivers in the open and missed his target. End Bob Pearson

Score Final TD

Coach Dick Bonifas sent several of his substitutes in during the final quarter. An intercepted pass by Bertrand placed Manistique close to scoring territory but Negaunee regained possession of the oval on downs following three incomplete passes.

The Miners' effort to get another offensive rolling backfired and they were forced to punt on fourth down with 20 yards to go. The punter juggled the oval and it finally rolled out of his hands, Manistique's John Wedell diving for it and recovering for the Emeralds only three yards from the goal line. Quarterback Don Tigras took the ball on the first play and plowed through for the final score. The try for extra point, a kick, was wide of the posts.

The game ended with Manistique in possession of the ball on their own 29-yard stripe.

Defensive stars of the game were tackle Bob Nelson, who turned in his best performance of the season, Fullback Orville Erickson, and Darryl Bertrand, the latter distinguishing himself in defensive play against passes. Bill Holm, a sophomore substitute back, showed fine ball carrying capabilities during the few minutes he was in the game, making one spectacular 23 yard end run besides plunging for Manistique's only extra point.

Blocking, long a shortcoming of Emerald eleven, was vastly improved and was an effective factor in Manistique's victory.

Spartans Hold Secret Drills

EAST LANSING (AP)—A super-secret practice was planned today for the Michigan State football team.

The scrimmage, to be held behind the locked gates of Macklin stadium, will be conducted under strict game conditions.

Officials will be imported, extra points will be kicked and all the other game trimmings will be in order for the first full dress rehearsal for the opener with Michigan two weeks from now.

Only the newsmen who regularly cover the team will be allowed to attend.

The scrimmage is planned as a shakedown to give the coaches an idea of how the squad is shaping up. Another main purpose is to try out a series of new plays under strict security conditions.

In view of the rugged session ahead of them, the Spartans were allowed to take it easy Friday. The emphasis during the dummy drill was on timing and coordination.

There also was a long kickoff and receiving drill.

One-Runners

The 7-6 licking they took from the Athletics yesterday was the 35th they've dropped by a lone run this season. The all-time American League record of 38 was set by the Athletics of 1945.

Yesterday's loss, however, was Detroit's first in the five games since Manager Fred Hutchinson started his "youth movement," ringing rookies called up from the minors into his regular lineups.

Today he'll take an even further step. He plans to start Bud Black, a right-hander obtained in the recent eight-player waiver swap with St. Louis and coming up from the Texas League, Black had a 12-8 record in the AAA Texas loop.

Added new blood afield, Hutchinson undoubtedly hopes will add more spectators. Friday's 1,828 paid customers made up the smallest Briggs Stadium crowd since 1944.

Philadelphia 610-690-330-7 12 1 Detroit 610-690-001-6 7 1 Scheib, Francano (7) and Astro; Newhouse, Marlowe (7), Houtteman (1) and Gansberg WP—Francano, LP—Marlowe, JR—Detroit, Maple.

Doomed To Cellar

Even if the 1952 Tigers managed to win all 14 of their remaining games they still probably couldn't escape the ignominious distinction of being the first Detroit team to finish in the cellar. Even with that—until now—worst records, the Jennings and Harris teams managed to end up in seventh place.

Detroit — so far — is the only city in the majors to never have finished last. But the seventh place St. Louis Browns now are out front by 9½ games, and would have to win only five more to finish ahead of Detroit, if the Tigers won 14 in a row. And the best the Tigers have done this year to piece together four in a row twice.

EAST LANSING (AP)—A super-secret practice was planned today for the Michigan State football team.

The scrimmage, to be held behind the locked gates of Macklin stadium, will be conducted under strict game conditions.

Officials will be imported, extra points will be kicked and all the other game trimmings will be in order for the first full dress rehearsal for the opener with Michigan two weeks from now.

Only the newsmen who regularly cover the team will be allowed to attend.

The scrimmage is planned as a shakedown to give the coaches an idea of how the squad is shaping up. Another main purpose is to try out a series of new plays under strict security conditions.

In view of the rugged session ahead of them, the Spartans were allowed to take it easy Friday. The emphasis during the dummy drill was on timing and coordination.

There also was a long kickoff and receiving drill.

One-Runners

The 7-6 licking they took from the Athletics yesterday was the 35th they've dropped by a lone run this season. The all-time American League record of 38 was set by the Athletics of 1945.

Yesterday's loss, however, was Detroit's first in the five games since Manager Fred Hutchinson started his "youth movement," ringing rookies called up from the minors into his regular lineups.

Today he'll take an even further step. He plans to start Bud Black, a right-hander obtained in the recent eight-player waiver swap with St. Louis and coming up from the Texas League, Black had a 12-8 record in the AAA Texas loop.

Added new blood afield, Hutchinson undoubtedly hopes will add more spectators. Friday's 1,828 paid customers made up the smallest Briggs Stadium crowd since 1944.

Philadelphia 610-690-330-7 12 1 Detroit 610-690-001-6 7 1 Scheib, Francano (7) and Astro; Newhouse, Marlowe (7), Houtteman (1) and Gansberg WP—Francano, LP—Marlowe, JR—Detroit, Maple.

Doomed To Cellar

Even if the 1952 Tigers managed to win all 14 of their remaining games they still probably couldn't escape the ignominious distinction of being the first Detroit team to finish in the cellar. Even with that—until now—worst records, the Jennings and Harris teams managed to end up in seventh place.

Detroit — so far — is the only city in the majors to never have finished last. But the seventh place St. Louis Browns now are out front by 9½ games, and would have to win only five more to finish ahead of Detroit, if the Tigers won 14 in a row. And the best the Tigers have done this year to piece together four in a row twice.

The New York Football Giants open their season in the Polo Grounds on Sept. 18 when they play an exhibition game against the champion Los Angeles Rams.

Escanaba Eskymo line threw up a rock-like barrier inside its five-yard line three times here last night to halt Ironwood scoring thrusts and hold the Red Devils to a 0-0 tie.

Coach Joe Milokna's Eskys dug in to halt the rampaging Red Devils three times in the first two quarters and in the fourth period stopped a fourth scoring drive by recovering a fumble on the Escanaba two-yard stripe.

Ironwood had command of the ball throughout the first half and lanced deep into Escanaba territory. The Eskymos were unable to form an attack and never crossed midfield until the third period.

But in that third quarter the Eskymos drove to the Ironwood 10-yard line and sent right halfback Charley Bellefeuille in a scoring slant off left tackle. The play was nullified by an offside penalty, however.

New York Holds Slim Edge In Flag Race

Yanks, Indians To Collide

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
The American League race is boiling toward a showdown Sunday when Eddie Lopat of the New York Yankees meets Cleveland's Mike Garcia in a game that could decide the pennant.

There still will be two weeks to go after this last meeting of the top contenders, but a victory in the big game could be the clincher. If the Yanks turn back the Indians in their home park, they'll be tough to catch. If Cleveland shows it can master New York in a payoff game, they may burst Casey Stengel's dreams of a fourth straight flag.

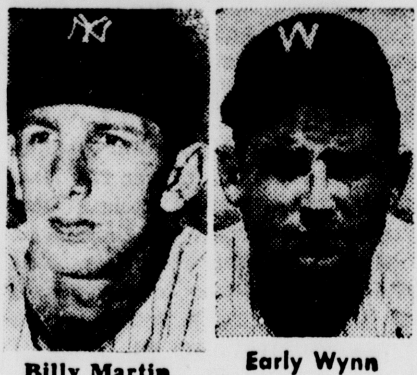

Unless the Boston Red Sox spoil Bob Lemon's plans of becoming the Indians' third 20-game winner this afternoon, first place must hang in the balance in their face-to-face meeting with the Yankees.

Martin Stars

One-round Billy Martin kept the Yanks out front last night by driving home three runs with a homer and triple in a 6-4 win over the Chicago White Sox, protecting their one half game margin. The Yanks have 13 to play, Cleveland 12 more.

Early Wynn shut out the Red Sox with three hits, 5-0, to keep the Tribe hot on the Yanks' trail with a budding eight-game win streak. It was the fifth shutout in the Cleveland string, two by Wynn and three by Garcia.

Brooklyn copped the game Charley Dessen said he "wanted to win more than any other all season," whipping St. Louis, 8-5, to move four games out front of the New York Giants. Each has 14 to go.

Billy Martin Early Wynn

The Giants blew a chance to gain at least a half game by losing the second game to Cincinnati, 8-7, after taking the first game, 4-2. The split was a crippling blow at their chances for another miracle.

Mound Trio

Casey Stengel pulled the Yanks home with a trio of second-line pitchers—Tom Gorman who went two innings, Ray Scarborough who went the next four for the win and Edell Blackwell who worked the last three.

Martin, who quit punching base runners and started punching pitchers in mid-season, broke a 3-3 tie with his third homer of the year in the fourth. Gil McDougald was on base at the time. The peppery Yanks second baseman tripled after McDougald doubled in the ninth to add an extra run.

The Yanks started out as though annoyed to see the Indians winning at Cleveland. Their three-run burst in the first had the old Yankee touch. The first came on Joe Collins' 17th homer, matching his entire previous major league homer output.

Chicago scored one in each of the first two frames and tied the score on Sam Mele's 15th homer in the third. Then Martin took charge.

21st For Wynn

Wynn never gave Boston much of a chance as he posted his 21st win. He was in serious trouble only in the third when Dick Gernert singled and reached third on a sacrifice and wild pitch. Wynn settled down to retire Sid Hudson and Dom DiMaggio to end the inning.

Keeping the heat on the Yanks, the Indians clubbed loser Hudson and his successors for 13 hits, two by Wynn that figured in the scoring. Luke Easter ran his batting streak to 15 games with one single in four trips.

Andy Pafko drove home five runs with a pair of homers and a single in Brooklyn's important victory over the Cardinals. The Brooks chased Gerry Staley with four runs in the first and called for Joe Black when Preacher Roe was knocked out.

Durable Joe, making his 50th appearance on relief, earned his 14th win to three defeats although nicked for homers by Stan Musial and Hal Rice in his six-inning stretch.

Another Relief Chore

The Giants had to settle for a split with the Reds after taking the first game. Old reliable Hoyt Wilhelm, pitching in his 63rd game, retired the last five men in succession to save Al Corwin's sixth straight win. Monte Irvin's fourth homer and successive triples by Bobby Thomson and Hank Thompson led the Giants' 13-hit attack.

Sal Maglie, the 1951 ace, failed on relief in the second game when the Giants blew a 3-0 lead and then fought back twice to tie at 5-5 and 7-7. Ninth-inning doubles by pitcher Frank Smith and Bobby Adams brought the world crashing down around Maglie's ears.

Monte Irvin continued his sensational pace since returning to the lineup by blasting three hits in each game—six for eight for the day. He is hitting .367 with a 14-game hitting streak.

Ted Kluszcwski had a homer in each game, and Johnny Temple of the Reds and Bobby Hofman of the Giants hit their first big league homers. Temple's came off Jim Hearn with the bases loaded in the second game.

Cubs Win Two

Chicago swept both ends of a two-night double from the Phillies, 5-1 and 7-0. Paul Minner took the first and Bob Kelly blanked the Phils with three hits in the second. Tommy Brown with six hits for 10 trips, and Frank Baumholtz with five for nine led the Cubs.

Ralph Kiner hit his 35th and 36th homers in Pittsburgh's first game triumph at Boston, 8-1. The Braves did all the slugging in the second game when they overwhelmed the Pirates, 16-0. Ernie Johnson rode home on this wave of runs flowing from 15 hits and 11 walks.

The Philadelphia A's rallied for three in the seventh and three more in the eighth to nip Detroit's four-game win streak, 7-6. Rookie Marion Fricano, up from Ottawa, picked up his first big league win on relief at the expense of rookie Dick Marlowe, an old International League rival at Buffalo.

Freddie Marsh singled home Ray Coleman in the 10th inning for the St. Louis Browns' 5-4 win over Washington. That was enough to give Satchel Paige his 11th victory.

Sluggish Ralph Kiner Sets Hot Homer Pace

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ralph Kiner, pride of the down and out Pittsburgh Pirates, is swinging his big bat hard and often these days in a stretch drive to win his seventh straight major league home run crown.

The Buc outfielder put two over the fence last night in the first game of a two-night doubleheader with the Boston Braves at Boston. That gave him 36—just one short of Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs, who has been pacing the majors this season.

Strong Finisher

Weak starts and strong finishes with the over-the-fence-punch is an old story to Kiner. This year has been no exception.

During the early part of the season he rarely delighted Pirates fans by poling one out of the park. Then a back ailment cropped up. It was corrected and hope rose—but not for long.

The season passed the midway mark and Pittsburgh fans knew for certain the Pirates "would have to wait another year" and they began to think Kiner was out of the running too.

Sauer was setting the pace with 23 homers. Kiner had a miserable 13.

Five In Four Days

The old flame burned briefly late in July when Kiner cut Sauer's lead to five. Not for long though—by Aug. 20, Sauer pulled away with an eight homer lead. The standings: Sauer 34, Kiner 26.

But in the past four days, Kiner has turned on the steam—five homers in four days—and three of them at the Giant's Polo Grounds where he hadn't lifted one over the fence all season.

Now Pirates fans are willing to take an even bet that "Ralph makes the grade for the seventh straight year."

Last year, Kiner had to put on a fitful finish to edge Gil Hodges of Brooklyn. Kiner finished with 42. Hodges had 40.

ONE YEAR AGO—Joe Gagliardi, Billy Maxwell, Timmy Jacobs and Jack Benen gained semi-final berths in the National Amateur Golf Tourney at Bethlehem, Pa.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Brooklyn defeated St. Louis, 8-7, increasing its lead over the Cards to 5 1/2 games.

TEN YEARS AGO—Ted Williams, Boston leftfielder, led the American League in hitting with .355.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—New York, under the leadership of its new manager, Joe McCarthy, clinched the American League pennant for the seventh time.

Bubba Church, Cincinnati pitcher, says his top baseball thrill was hitting a home run against Preacher Roe in Shibe Park in 1951.

Olympic Ring Champion Gets Win In Pro Debut

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—This was the professional debut of Floyd Patterson, the Olympic middleweight boxing champion.

No stars and stripes fluttered from a stadium flag pole. No bands played the national anthem. Only a phonograph recording sprayed the ancient St. Nicholas Arena walls with its "Oh say can you see..."

They didn't play the anthem for Patterson, the Olympic champ. It was the routine pre-fight setting for the nationally televised main go that followed Patterson's semi-final.

Punch For Pay

No badge-wearing official pinned a gold medal on his chest. Just a little cash payment on the morrow to go into the family treasury.

"Nothing ever will be like winning the Olympics," said Patterson. "Maybe if I should get lucky enough to win a title some day it might be something like it. But right now, I don't think anything ever will top the Olympics."

Patterson, a well-built young Negro from Brooklyn, was a little disappointed in his first pro start. He had stopped experienced Eddie Godbold of Harlem in the fourth round last night but he hadn't done it like he wanted.

"I'm used to fighting those three rounders," he said. He talked quietly and weighed every word carefully. "Usually the other fellow comes out swinging with everything he's got. They know they don't have long to do the job. But this fellow (Godbold) went into a shell."

Too Anxious

"I guess I was too anxious. I wanted to look good too. Especially, because this was my first one."

Over in the dressing room, Godbold was saying, "He's a good fighter. Not too much of a puncher. But he moves around nice."

Patterson's handlers and his manager, Custer d'Amato, were pleased with the win.

"What do you expect the first fight?" they asked. "He won didn't he?"

d'Amato said Patterson's real age is 19, not the 17 carried during the Olympics.

"I'm going to bring him along slow," he said. "A little better opponent next time. Then a little better until I find out how good he is..."

Patterson stood quietly, listening to his manager. There was a slice of tape over his left eye where a cut had been opened in the fourth round.

Then he went slowly out the door, down the dim corridor in the old skating rink. He didn't say a word but you could have sworn he was thinking:

"Nothing ever will be like winning the Olympics."

Cleveland Hurlers Thrive On Hard Work And No Rest

CLEVELAND (AP)—Al Lopez has gone so far from the "three-days-rest" theory that now the Cleveland manager is worried his pitchers will get too much time on the bench and go stale.

In announcing that Mike Garcia will work the big one tomorrow against the New York Yankees, Lopez said that if the husky right hander "didn't pitch Sunday, he couldn't go until Tuesday and might lose that fine edge he has with those four days of rest."

Cleveland has an open day Monday.

Three Day Rest

Traditionally, major league pitchers have three days off before getting their next assignment.

But not the Cleveland Indians in their roaring drive to overtake the front-running Yankees who now lead by a scant half game.

Lopez, the worrying senior, says it "certainly looks" like he is going to pitch Garcia, Early Wynn and Bob Lemon in rotation.

"I've talked to all of them and they're eager to do it. If one of 'em feels tired, I told them to tell me and I'd make a switch."

Who can blame the manager? The system has been working.

Won Nine Straight

The Indians have won their last nine games, the longest streak this season in the league. And the men who started all but one of those tilts are the big three.

Last night Wynn gave up only three hits and trimmed Boston, 5-0. He did it with only two days rest after beating Philadelphia, 6-1. The Athletic run was unearned.

"I had just as much stuff at the finish as in the first inning," Wynn said. The game bore him out.

The only Cleveland starter who has not finished a game since the string started Sept. 4 is Lemon—who blames that jokingly on too much rest. He had three days before starting against Philadelphia Wednesday and got tired after eight and two-thirds innings.

Fire School To Open Monday

The Escanaba Fire department and G. S. Leonard, director of public safety, will be hosts for a regional fire conference, to be held here Sept. 15-18.

It is the sixth school of its kind being sponsored by the University of Michigan extension service in cooperation with the fire bureau of the Michigan State Police and the office of Vocational education, department of Public Instruction.

This regional fire school will be similar to the annual fire college held on the U. of M. campus each summer for firemen from all parts of Michigan. The regional school is broughtman to areas where expense and distance of travel prevent members from attending the Ann Arbor sessions.

Training Program

Invitations to the school here have been sent to fire departments within a 100-mile radius. The school begins at 7 p. m., each evening for four days, and runs three hours each session. By having the fire school in the evening, members of fire departments don't lose time from their jobs and have no hotel expenses, as those attending can drive back and forth. A similar school was successfully conducted at Iron Mountain last fall.

Chief Wallace Gannon of the University of Michigan extension bureau is in charge. Nine hours of fire fighting and control are offered. A new feature of the school is nine hours training in fire prevention and fire inspection, given by the Michigan State Police fire marshal's bureau.

Capt. Warner in Charge

Pumper operations will be taught by Jacob Hohmann Jr., assistant chief of the Bay City fire department. A veteran of over 30 years service with the Bay City unit, Hohmann, has been an instructor of the U. of M. campus fire school since 1941. He has also assisted with regional schools at Houghton, Iron Mountain, Marquette and Petoskey.

Use of ropes will be taught by Capt. Clifford Warner, U. of M. extension lecturer. Before joining the extension service, he served with the Grand Rapids fire department for 30 years. Capt. Warner has spent three summers in Upper Michigan. For the past four years, he taught at the campus fire college in Ann Arbor.

Principles of fire fighting will be handled by Chief Wallace Gannon, extension service instructor in fireman's training. Before joining the University of Michigan extension service five years ago, he was a member of the Muskegon fire department for 28 years.

Fighting Oil Fires

Det. Sgt. Quintin Dean and Det. Sgt. Shirley G. Curtis of the State Police fire marshal's bureau will teach fire prevention and fire inspection. Samuel C. Fisher, a former insurance company fire marshal, will teach fire inspection techniques.

Fifteen barrels of oil in a pit will be ignited to provide practice in fire extinguishing on Thursday evening, Sept. 18. Members of the class will extinguish the fire in the pit, 20 x 30 feet with fog, in 30 seconds.

Malcolm Whaley, supervisor of the public service training for the Office of Vocational Education, is chairman for the school. He also is general chairman of the annual fire college held each summer at the University of Michigan.

Casualties In Korea Reduced By Plastic Slug-Stopper Jacket

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy's surgeon general credits a new bullet-resisting jacket with reducing deaths and seriousness of wounds among the Marines fighting in Korea.

Rear Adm. Lamont Pugh, who returned yesterday from an inspection trip around the world which took him to the Far East, said at a Pentagon news conference the laminated plastic jacket is now general issue for all combat Marines in the front lines.

The admiral said the jacket, perfected by the Navy and Marines in this country, had been improved by the Leathernecks on the spot in Korea.

The combat area modifications included an extension of the jacket in the rear so as to provide more protection for the region of the kidneys and a lengthening of the front portion so that it now looks something like a baseball catcher's chest protector.

O. M. Mickelson, 71, Dies Today

Otto M. Mickelson, 71, of 705 S. 10th St., who retired as chief clerk to the superintendent of the Peninsula Division, Chicago & North Western Railway in 1949, died at 2:30 a. m. today at St. Francis Hospital. He had been seriously ill the past three months.

Born in Mankato, Minn., April 1, 1881, Mr. Mickelson started his career with the American Express Co. in 1901 and remained with the company until October, 1906, when he became clerk for the Northern Pacific Railway at Brainerd, Minn. He transferred to Dilworth, Minn., as clerk in the superintendent's office in October, 1906, and worked at Dilworth, Moorehead and Fargo, N. D. He became associated with the Chicago & North Western Railway as clerk in the accounting department at Huron, S. D., Aug. 17, 1917. In March of 1920 was promoted to chief clerk to the division engineer at Huron.

To Escanaba in 1921

He transferred to a similar position at Escanaba March 21, 1921 and Sept. 14, 1927, was promoted to chief clerk to the superintendent, which position he held until his retirement.

He married the former Irene E. Stewart of Arlington, S. D., Feb. 27, 1913 at Moorehead, Minn. Following his retirement he devoted his leisure time to his hobbies, radio, reading and baseball.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, the Brotherhood of Railway Employees and the Chicago & North Western Veterans' Association.

Funeral Monday

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. L. K. (Marian) Baillargeon and Mrs. Thomas X. (Jeanne) Quinn, Escanaba; nine grandchildren and two brothers and one sister, George Mickelson of Los Angeles, Harold of Pinehurst, Wash., and Mrs. Ida Gerlick of Minneapolis.

The body was taken to the Boyce funeral home where friends may call beginning at 2 p. m. Sunday. Services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the funeral home chapel with the Rev. James H. Bell of the First Presbyterian Church conducting the rites. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

Delta Guard Wins Top Rifle Honors

Delta County National Guardsmen in Company C, 107th Engineer Combat Battalion at Escanaba, Michigan qualified 100 per cent as rifle or carbine marksmen to win top honors in their battalion for the year ending with Field Training 1952.

Capt. Roy Johnson's men completed range firing in August at Camp Grayling during the annual field encampment. Earlier firing was done at the unit's Gladstone rifle range.

Twenty four men fired scores of 150-174 out of a possible 195 points to qualify as "Sharpshooters" and 35 men turned in scores of 125-149 to qualify as "Marksmen." Not a single man failed to qualify.

The local company was cited this week in Special Orders Number 49, Headquarters, 107th Engineer Combat Battalion for this accomplishment. The citation reads, "Company C is cited for outstanding achievement in marksmanship during the year ending with Field Training 1952. Every member of the company qualified in record firing with his basic arm by the close of the period. By careful planning and diligent effort the company qualified 31 individuals at home station on a crude improvised range and then completed firing at Camp Grayling, Michigan. In addition to achieving the highest per cent of individual qualifications in the battalion, Company C earned the battalions highest figure of merit of 92.03 for use in state and national marksmanship competitions in accordance with NGR 44. This superior performance reflects great credit upon each officer, non-commissioned officer and enlisted man of the company, Home Station: Escanaba, Michigan. Commanding Officer: Capt. Roy Johnson."

Drivers Ticketed—Della McGraw, 321 South 17th St., was ticketed by Escanaba police for disobeying a stop sign; Donald J. Weber, 1314 Second Ave. S., for following too closely; Fen H. Dahlgren, 322 Ludington, disobeying a stop sign.

Parking Hours—Under the city's new traffic ordinance one-hour parking on designated street is enforced from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily except Friday, when the hours are 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Parking time is unlimited on Sundays and holidays.

Motorist Fined—Delbert Lorenson of 621 South 14th St. today pleaded guilty in Justice Henry Ranguette's court to a charge of reckless driving and was assessed a fine of $25 and costs. He was arrested by Escanaba police at 230 a. m. today in the 200 block, South 18th St.

Stevenson Is Sick Of Toting Truman's Record, Says Mundt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota, co-chairman of the Republican Speakers Bureau, said today Gov. Adlai Stevenson already is "sick of carrying the record of the Truman administration on his shoulders."

Mundt said in a statement issued by the GOP National Committee: "Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower (Republican presidential candidate) has raised real issues: among them, loyalty vs. subversion; honesty vs. corruption; change vs. 'the mess' in Washington; lower living costs and lower taxes vs. waste."

"Adlai (the Democratic presidential nominee) naturally would prefer to discuss other issues if he could find them. Meanwhile, he is busy coming clever phrases by the bushel to conceal the fact he is just plain unhappy."

City Holy Name Societies Will Be Reactivated

Holy Name societies in the four Catholic parishes in Escanaba are making plans to re-emphasize the work of these organizations, it was announced this week.

The movement here is part of a diocesan program inaugurated in Upper Michigan by the Rev. David Spelgatt of Marquette.

Holy Name societies at St. Patrick, St. Ann, St. Joseph and St. Thomas churches will receive communion in a body at their respective churches Sunday, at 7:30 masses.

St. Patrick Guild will serve a communion breakfast for Holy Name men of the parish after mass Sunday when St. Patrick society will elect officers. At St. Ann church, a father-and-children breakfast will be served after the mass, and special recognition will be given the father with the most children attending.

St. Joseph Holy Name Society will elect officers and inaugurate a membership drive, at a communion breakfast following the 7:30 mass Sunday. St. Thomas the Apostle Holy Name society, organized in 1949, is conducting a membership drive also, and will enroll new members Sunday. Members will receive communion in a body.

Holy Name men from all parishes in the Escanaba Diocese, which includes Delta and Schoolcraft counties, will hold a rally at St. Joseph church here Oct. 5. The Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, bishop of Marquette, will conduct a holy hour at that time, preceding a general meeting in Bonifas auditorium.

College Student Critically Hurt

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—Arnold Klump, a 19-year old football player at Kalamazoo College, remained in critical condition at Bronson Hospital today, following a delicate brain operation.

Klump was found unconscious in his dormitory room yesterday morning. The right side of his head was badly bruised, and the bed in his room was soaked with blood.

Dr. Preston S. Weadon said he thought the football player had a good chance for recovery despite the seriousness of his head injuries.

Police and college officials continued to investigate the baffling case. They said they were not sure whether Klump, a freshman student from Blissfield, had been beaten or suffered accidental injuries.

Fellow students said Klump retired to his room Wednesday night apparently in good health after attending a reception for new students.

Football coach Lloyd "Dob" Grow told police the youth left practice early Wednesday afternoon after complaining of a splitting headache.

The youth was found by fellow students when his alarm clock failed to stop ringing. He was found lying face down on the floor beside his bed.

Klump was a star guard on the Blissfield High School team in 1950. He was trying out for a backfield position on the Kalamazoo College squad, although Grow said he would probably have shifted Klump to a line position.

Enemy Hunted Off Scandinavia For Allied War Games

The warships engaged in the operation, left here yesterday. Included in the squadron were Britain's light aircraft carrier Triumph, six British and American destroyers, four American destroyer escorts and three British frigates.

Mainbrace is the keystone in about 40 Allied maneuvers, mostly local ground operations, to be staged before the end of 1952.

Rain and knee-deep mud slowed infantrymen and grounded planes in Italian war games in North Italy yesterday.

More than 250,000 troops—British Canadian, Belgian, Dutch, Norwegian and Danish—were taking up positions for the biggest autumn maneuvers to be held in the British zone of Germany since World War II. They will take part in two land-air exercises, dubbed "Holdfast" and "Scandia Three," opening next week.

Directed By Briton

Scandia Three and a part of Mainbrace will be conducted in Schleswig-Holstein, on the Danish-German border, under the direction of Maj. Gen. Bioern Christopherson, Norwegian commander in Germany.

Mainbrace itself will be directed by Britain's Adm. Sir Patrick Brind, commander-in-chief of Allied forces in Northern Europe. The senior officer afloat will be U. S. Vice Adm. Felix Stump.

The U. S. contingent in the games includes the 45,000-ton battleship Wisconsin; two 45,000-ton aircraft carriers, the Franklin D. Roosevelt and the Midway, and two smaller carriers, the 27,100-ton Wasp and the 14,500-ton Wright, as well as escort carriers, cruisers, destroyers and smaller vessels.

peace treaty — they must have eaten crow."

He coupled his discussion of communism in America with some searing comments about Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin.

"There are men among us," he said, "whose hope it is to profit from anxiety, hysteria and fear—to confuse, to blind, to obscure the issues for the American people."

He called them "these salesmen of confusion."

The governor said that in his view the FBI is doing an excellent job hunting down the Reds. "To tell you—or to imply as some do for political reasons—that the government is crawling with Communists today is to say that the FBI does not know its business."

"We have instituted a federal loyalty system, and we did so in 1947—three long years before the senator from Wisconsin made his shrill discovery of the Communist menace."
